Brookhart Calls for "Progressive Program and Progressive Candidate"

Washington—(P)—The proposal of Calvin Coolidge for a "solid front in support of the president" is to be the hub about which Republican organization leaders will rally their forces for renomination of Herbert Hoover.

The veteran party pilots for the most part accept Mr. Coolidge's copyrighted article in the Saturday Evening Post disclaiming any interest in his immediate return to the presidency as definitely eliminating him from next year's political race. But the appeal of the former president for "party loyalty" is viewed with less warmth among Republican independents of the northwest who have opposed some of the major Hoover policies.

Senator Brookhart, Republican, Iowa, called for "a progressive program and a progressive candidate," after reading the Coolidge article. He mentioned as possible candidates Senators Borah of Idaho, Norris of

WRITER COOLIDGE NOT

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE

Washington—(P)—Perhaps his recent literary activities are responsible, but terse President Coolidge differs from Calvin Coolidge, private citizen, in statement wording.

The former president's magazine article, saying he did not seek the presidency in 1928, took nearly 3,000 words. His pre-campaign statement about the 1928 race took 10: "I do not choose to run for president in 1928."

Nebraska, Johnson of California, La Follette of Wisconsin, and Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania.

Stalwarts for Hoover. However, Republican stalwarts such as Senator Watson of Indiana, the floor leader; Senator Fess of Ohio, the national chairman; and Representative Wood of Indiana, chairman of the appropriations committee, looked back over 50 years of political history and reflected that it was the thing for Mr. Coolidge to do and the thing for the party to do now was to renominate Herbert Hoover.

Mr. Coolidge in his article said, in part: "Those who are suggesting, under the present disturbed conditions in our own country and in the world, that a former president should use his prestige to attempt to secure a

LAVAL AND BRIAND
REPORT TO CABINET

Paris—(P)—Premier Laval and Foreign Minister Briand today reported to the French cabinet, presided over by President Doumer, the results of their trip to Berlin and received congratulations on their work in the form of a resolution unanimously passed.

M. Laval's visit to the United States was brought up and he indicated he shortly would set the date of departure. The American embassy in Berlin suggested he sail Oct. 11, thereby arriving Oct. 20, so as not to conflict with President's engagement at Yorktown, and it is considered likely he will accept this date rather than Oct. 16 as previously suggested.

Prison Wardens Preparing Reply To Wickersham Body

"Plenty of Fireworks" Forecast for Baltimore Session on Oct. 19

New York—(P)—Prison wardens from 40 states are preparing to bombard the Wickersham commission with criticism for its recent attack on brutality in American penal institutions.

An outlet for their feelings has been arranged in the form of a special session Oct. 22 in connection with the sixty-first annual congress of the American Prison Association which opens in Baltimore Oct. 19.

At the close of the session a committee—already organized with Sanford Bates, superintendent of federal prisons, at its head—is to meet to draw up a formal report summarizing the group's attitude. This committee will include Warden Oscar

Lee of the Wisconsin State prison at Waupun, Wis.

Details of the arrangements were made public in New York today by Edward R. Cass, general secretary of the Prison Association of New York, who has been designated to preside at the meeting.

Predicting that "there will be plenty of fireworks," Cass said the wardens will probably center their attack on what they believe to be a blanket indictment contained in the sixth of twenty-three conclusions in the Wickersham report.

That conclusion in part was as follows: "We find our present system of penal discipline to be traditionally unintelligent and not infrequently cruel and inhuman. Brutal disciplinary measures have no justification. They neither reform the criminal nor give security to the prison. We recommend they be forbidden by law."

He said today the wardens are planning to object strenuously to that and other parts of the report which they deem sweeping generalizations unwarranted by the facts.

"There is a feeling," he said, "that while some of the accusations contained in the Wickersham report may apply to certain individual penal institutions they certainly do not apply to the penal institutions of the United States generally."

SCHWENKER ASKS
DELAY IN HEARING

Plea for 30-day Continuance Is Fought by District Attorney

Milwaukee—(P)—Calvin Schwenker, former state banking commissioner, William A. Schroeder, president of the insolvent Franklin State bank, and others originally named in warrants growing out of closing of the institution, asked for a thirty-day continuance when their preliminary hearing was called in district court here today.

There was instant objection from the district attorney's office. On motion of James McCarthy, assistant prosecutor, Judge A. J. Hedding continued the argument until this afternoon when Dist. Atty. George A. Bowman will protest such a long delay.

Yesterday Judge Hedding denied Schwenker access to proceedings of the John Doe inquiry into affairs of the bank conducted recently by the district court.

Although Schwenker contended the John Doe hearing was a judicial proceeding which should be open to the public, and that there is nothing in the law requiring secrecy, Walter Hofer, deputy district attorney, said that much of the John Doe testimony was hearsay, publication of which would injure innocent persons.

Judge Hedding declined to set a precedent by permitting Schwenker to obtain a transcript of his own testimony.

TURN DOWN PLEA TO ABANDON BUS SERVICE

Madison—(P)—The Wisconsin Public Service commission refused to permit the Valley Transit company to abandon its bus service in the city of Merrill and ordered a revised schedule of service and lower rates in the hope of stimulating patronage.

Officials of the bus company disclosed at a hearing Sept. 10 that the lines have cost $30,000 in the last ten years but there were so many protests against the proposed abandonment that the commission decided it would not be in the public interest.

It therefore permitted the company to withdraw the application, reduced cash fares from 7 to 5 cents and ordered new service schedules compiled on the theory that a new operating system will increase the number of riders and avert future losses. The plan is to be tried as an experiment.

DISBARMENT PETITION AGAINST DETROIT SOLON

Lansing, Mich.—(P)—A petition demanding the disbarment of Representative Charles H. Culver, Detroit, on charges of professional misconduct and malpractice, was filed with the attorney general today by Senator Joe C. Foster, Lansing. Foster's action answered Culver's threat 10 days ago that he would seek Foster's disbarment on charges of "divulging professional confidence." Foster stated in his petition that Culver's disbarment threat was made through John Gillespie, Detroit politician, who with Culver unsuccessfully sought Foster's aid in obtaining dismissal of perjury charges against Peter A. Miller, former head of the bond holders' committee of the Federal Bond and Mortgage company, Detroit.

TWO INJURED WHEN KENOSHA PLANE FALLS

Kenosha—(P)—John Sodlisk, 30, manager of the Kenosha airport, and George McClatchey, 67, were injured last yesterday when a plane owned and piloted by Sodlisk crashed near the landing field. "Fractures of both legs, an injured hip and back were sustained by Sodlisk while McClatchey has a fractured wrist and cuts on the face and knee. The plane was taken aloft on a pleasure ride and developed engine trouble. The plane suddenly nosed straight down from an altitude of about 100 feet and was badly damaged.

GREEN BAY HEARING
FACES MONTH'S DELAY

Madison—(P)—The state Public Service commission probably will not be able to consider the application of the city of Green Bay for a change in the discount dates of the Wisconsin Public Service Corporation until November, William Dinneen, secretary, said today.

A definite date for a hearing is to be arranged next week but the commission's docket is so crowded that the case likely cannot be reached next month, he said.

Discount rates in Green Bay differ. Recently a group of railroad employees petitioned the corporation for a change but this was partly on the ground that a meeting of meter readers would be required. The common council appealed to the city attorney and he took the matter before the Public Service commission.

LABOR FEDERATION IS OPPOSED TO BLANCHARD

Madison—(P)—Henry Ohl, Jr., president of the Wisconsin State Federation of Labor, today made public a letter which he said had been sent to all affiliated unions in the first district opposing the candidacy of State Sen. George W. Blanchard of Edgerton, for the congressional Republican nomination.

Ohl charged that Blanchard's record in the state legislature was opposed to the interests of labor.

The letter said: "It is hoped that the information given here will be of service to our unions collectively and our members individually to the end that the tragic senatorial opposition of Blanchard in our state legislature may not be carried into the national congress."

THREE ARRESTED FOR RACKETEER SLAYINGS

Detroit—(P)—Harry Keywell, Raymond Bernstein and Irving Milberg today were held for trial on charges of murder for the slaying of three racketeers in a Collingwood apartment house Sept. 16. The defendants were held for trial after Solomon Levine told how he sat in the apartment and watched Joseph Lebovitz, Herman Paul and Joseph Sutker shot to death. Levine named Keywell, Bernstein, Milberg and Harry Fleisher as the slayers. Fleisher has not been apprehended.

CATHOLIC CHARITIES
ELECT NEW PRESIDENT

Wilkes-Barre, Pa.—(P)—The Rt. Rev. James H. Ryan, rector of the Catholic university of Washington, D. C., was reelected honorary president of the National Conference of Catholic Charities today. James F. Murphy of Detroit, Mich., was chosen president succeeding William L. Jgoe, of St. Louis, Mo. Vice presidents elected include: William P. Lynch, Omaha, Neb. The resolutions committee designated Omaha, Neb., as the place of the next annual meeting.

PARLIAMENT TO
PREMIER SAYS

General Election to Be Held, British Political Observers Think

London—(P)—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald informed the house of commons today that parliament will adjourn next Wednesday.

He did not reply to a question by Arthur Henderson, new leader of the Labor party, as to whether it would be an adjournment or dissolution, but political observers agreed that a general election is likely to be held soon.

By Wednesday, Mr. MacDonald said, parliament will have completed the emergency program. Both the economy bill, carrying out retrenchments all along the line of government expenditure, and Chancellor Philip Snowden's supplementary budget will be enacted in the next seven days.

The prime minister said also a short measure will be enacted to deal with food profiteers in view of the fact that prices already are beginning to soar in London.

If the government decides to go to the voters the adjournment will be accompanied by dissolution of parliament and a call for an immediate election with the polling late in October.

If the house is merely adjourned the government's plan will be to let the country settle down and give the people time to see the effects of the work it has done.

Prime Minister MacDonald decided today to go to Seaham Harbor Friday night to put the question of a general election before a meeting of his constituents. The Seaham Labor party already has demanded that he resign.

The cabinet went into session before noon to resume its efforts to formulate a program on which an election can be called. Its decision was expected before Mr. MacDonald goes to Seaham.

In requesting a hearing from his constituents, the prime minister has taken the first opportunity to place before them his views regarding the events that led to the downfall of the Labor ministry, the formation of the national government and his own plans for the future.

While the Labor party has taken every means possible to discredit him, he remains the sitting member of the house of commons for Seaham Harbor and his status as such is not affected. That he holds the support of any of the voters was indicated by the close vote of 40 to 39 by which the local party delegates repudiated his leadership.

Green Bay—(P)—"There's an Illinois car with four suspicious looking men in it driving about the streets," stated an excited caller over the sheriff's office telephone Tuesday afternoon. He gave the Illinois license number, County Motorcyclist Officer Clarence Gorgnet set out in search of the car. Near a downtown intersection he met it and gave chase. The car turned into the driveway of the federal building and stopped in the parking lot. Gorgnet sped alongside, just as the four men stepped out. There were three prohibition agents and U. S. Commissioner John F. Watermelon. The preliminary hearing in the Bert Cain case. Now, Commissioner Watermelon says, he is not going to ride with the prohibition agents any more.

Chain Tax Decision Up For

Washington—(P)—Among the 400 cases awaiting the scrutiny of the supreme court which opens its fall term on Monday, are three which have already been decided by the court, and comment provoking margin of 5 to 4.

Even after the court has ruled formally on a suit, the losers, it still unconvinced, have one more chance. They may ask for a rehearing, telling where they think the court erred.

Sometimes, though, rarely, the court will take up the case again but a reversal of the original decision is even more infrequent.

Nevertheless, the court this year has been asked to reconsider 23 cases disposed of last term in 17 opinions.

BISHOP CANNON

Grand Jury

Fund Charge

Bishop and Ada L. Burroughs Face Action Under Corrupt Practices Act

Washington—(P)—District Attorney Rover announced today the District of Columbia grand jury would investigate charges that Bishop James Cannon, Jr., and Ada L. Burroughs, former treasurer of the Virginia Anti-Slavery committee, violated the corrupt practices act in the 1928 presidential campaign.

The investigation will begin on Oct. 8. Rover said the jury would seek to determine whether the two had violated the law through their alleged failure to report certain campaign expenditures to the clerk of the house of representatives.

The attorney said a score of witnesses, including several bankers and officials of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, would be subpoenaed before the grand jury. The list of witnesses were described as containing the names of neither the bishop, Miss Burroughs, nor any of the senators who have conducted an investigation into the bishop's campaign activities.

It was described as necessary to expedite action in the case because the statute of limitations is about to expire.

MRS. KANE'S MOTHER

Goes Into Hysterics After Telling About Professor's Visit

Hampton, Va.—(P)—Preliminary hearing for Prof. Elisha Kent Kane on charges of drowning his wife was interrupted here today when Mrs. W. C. Graham, mother of the dead woman, went into hysterics on the stand and had to be removed for treatment after five minutes of sobbing testimony. Mrs. Graham, whose illness caused postponement of the hearing a week ago had told of the arrival of Professor Kane at her home two days before the drowning. She said she called to the couple to come to breakfast the morning of the drowning and that her daughter accompanied her to the dining room.

"She told me her husband wanted to go to the beach to swim and she looked at me with appalling eye as if to say 'don't let me go or go with me,'" Mrs. Graham said. "They went and my darling daughter never came back alive."

Her testimony went no further as she broke down in sobs.

AS MINISTER;
SZE APPOINTED

Events Following Japanese Occupation in Manchuria Force Out Official

Nanking—(P)—Dr. C. T. Wang, mobbed and seriously injured Monday by students who blamed him for failure to obtain the intervention of the league of nations in the Sino-Japanese controversy in Manchuria resigned today as a foreign minister of the Nanking government.

Alfred Sze, Chinese minister to Great Britain and China's representative in the league of nations, was named to succeed him.

Events of the last ten days, which witnessed the occupation of southern Manchurian cities by Japanese troops and the subsequent rejection by the league council of the Chinese appeal for intervention, so weakened Dr. Wang's standing with leaders of the Kuomintang, dominant Chinese political party, that he found retention of office impossible.

Pending the arrival of Sze from Geneva, Frank W. Lee, American born Chinese and former minister of this country to Mexico, will act as foreign minister. Lee, who was born in New York City, has been serving as vice minister of foreign affairs.

Shortly after the change was announced a foreign office spokesman stated that the alleged independence movements in Manchuria following Japanese occupation must be regarded as having been instigated by Japanese since the areas affected were those occupied.

Despite Japan's formal declaration that she has no territorial designs upon Manchuria, the Nanking authorities refused to believe that spontaneous Chinese independence movements could evolve under conditions of occupation.

The foreign office spokesman asserted the evidence supported the belief that "the Japanese intend to use the occupied areas under Japanese protection, thereby placing serious obstacles in the way of a peaceful and lasting settlement of the Manchurian question between China and Japan."

Nanking considered it noteworthy that virtually all information about alleged separatist movements in Manchuria had reached Shanghai and Nanking through Japanese channels. The statements said Chinese leaders were establishing their own regimes in Mukden, Kirin, Harbin, Tientsin and Inner Mongolia, declaring independence from Nanking.

Although a few Chinese professed to consider the separatist reports sheer Japanese propaganda, the foreign office spokesman's statement was taken to indicate fear in official quarters that the Japanese were planning to establish in power certain Chinese amenable to dictation preparatory to an annexation campaign.

Recent statements from Tokyo said Japanese authorities had frowned upon separatist and independence movements in Manchuria.

President Of
Is Arrested

Joseph H. Tayler of Green Bay Accused of Misapplying Funds

Milwaukee—(P)—Joseph H. Tayler, former president of the McCartney National bank, Green Bay, was arrested at a health resort near Oconomowoc today by Deputy United States Marshal Robert Groggins on a warrant charging him with misapplying funds with intent to defraud the bank. The bank was closed May 27 on orders of federal bank examiners.

E. J. Koelzer, assistant United States attorney, said the warrant contained only one count, that of misapplication of $2,270.18, but that special agents of the department of justice investigating the case had given him evidence on which several additional charges likely would be based.

Koelzer said the agents estimated Tayler was indebted to the bank for about $100,000 personally and that companies in which he was interested as an official owed the bank amounts totaling from $500,000 to $750,000.

Tayler was to be arraigned here before United States Commissioner Floyd E. Jenkins.

Nature of Charge
The warrant charges Tayler with a misapplication of funds on March 9, 1931, about two months after he resigned as president of the bank. At that time he was chairman of the board of directors of the institution.

Koelzer said Tayler at that time had but $43.73 to the credit of his personal account in the bank and that checks outstanding for payment totaled more than $2,000.

To cover these checks, Koelzer said, Tayler is alleged to have withdrawn $2,400 from the account of the Door County State bank, one of the institutions having accounts in the McCartney bank, and credited it to his account.

Then, Koelzer said, when the McCartney bank presented a statement to the Door County State bank on April 30, the deficit in the account is alleged to have been covered by a personal check drawn by Tayler who withdrew funds from still another bank's account to cover the latter check.

Tayler has been at the health resort for about a month.

Hearing On Oct. 9
Attorney H. A. Sawyer, former federal prosecutor here, appeared before Commissioner Jenkins in behalf of Tayler. The preliminary hearing was set for Oct. 3 and bond was fixed at $10,000. It was understood a son-in-law of Tayler living in Green Bay would act as his attorney.

Koelzer said the investigation indicated the alleged misapplication of funds resulted from Tayler's attempts to bolster the financial status of several of the companies in which he was an officer. The companies, Koelzer said, was reported on the verge of collapse because of the business depression.

The investigation also included financial transactions between Tayler and the late Austin E. Larsen, head of the Larsen Canning company, Green Bay. Koelzer said Larsen killed himself in June. Relatives attributed the suicide to losses he sustained in the collapse of the McCartney bank.

DECISION DUE
ON ROADS' PLEA

Refusal to Grant Increase Would Enforce Wage Cuts, Board Told

QUIZ BEGAN JULY 15

Security Holders and Railroad Lawyers in Final Plea for O. K.

Washington—(P)—The Interstate Commerce commission today closed two and a half months of hearings on the railroads' request for a 15 per cent freight rate increase and took the case under advisement. A decision is expected in three or four weeks.

The hearings ended with rebuttal arguments by attorneys for the railroads and railroad security holders.

During the closing arguments Grenville Clark of New York representing security holders, told the commission that a refusal to increase rates would participate a nationwide controversy on the question of cutting railroad wages.

Clyde Brown, chief attorney for the New York Central, said he felt the commission had no alternative under the transportation act but to increase rates. Congress, he asserted, had made this mandatory on a showing by the railroads that their revenues were below a fair return.

Referring to railroad wages, Brown asked the commission to remember that in 1922 when it reduced rates, it also cut in wages of railroad employees was affected on the same date.

The railroads filed their petition for the increase on June 17 and on July 15 hearings were started.

Except for a brief recess between presentation of the railroads' case and the taking of shippers' testimony and ten days for filing of reply, the commission has been occupied throughout the summer with the case.

Would Bring Controversy
"Everybody knows," Clark said, "that denial of this application will accelerate and force an effort to cut wages of railroad workers."

"The wage question is a very large and complicated one. I tried to figure it out. I have figured it nearly as well as possible that it would mean 1,400 different possible mediation cases. This commission should not hurt this controversy on the country."

Clark and Charles E. Hughes Jr., who spoke for security holders, closed that portion of the railroad's case before the commission.

Hughes devoted his argument largely to the question of the C. C. Fairbairn who has attacked claims that credit of the railroads had collapsed to such an extent that refunding was virtually impossible.

Hughes denied bankers had told the railroads they must ask an increase or that the financial houses had carried on any propaganda to the effect that the railroads would be unable to service their bonds and maturing bond issues. The record, he said, contains denials of this claim.

Clark discussed the law and answered claims of shippers' attorneys that

Senate Naval Group's Chairman Assails Reduction In Cruisers

HALE DECLARES MANDATE HAS BEEN IGNORED

Says Every U. S. Destroyer Will Be Obsolete When Treaty Expires

Portland, Maine. — (AP) — United States Senator Frederick Hale, chairman of the senate naval affairs committee, today described President Hoover's action in reducing from 11 to 5 the number of destroyers to be built as "a blow to the national defense." He left for Washington this morning to consult with naval authorities.

"Before the expiration of the London treaty in 1936," the senator said, "every destroyer in the United States navy will have become obsolete under the terms of the treaty."

He charged the president had disregarded "the mandate of the congress" and said his action was "a great disappointment to those who were depending on the building of these vessels to aid in relieving the unemployment situation."

NEW MARRIAGE CANON ADOPTED AT CONFERENCE

Protestant Episcopal Church Makes First Change on Subject Since 1808

Denver. — (AP) — The adoption of a new matrimonial canon was cited as a major achievement of the fiftieth triennial convention of the Protestant Episcopal church as delegates prepared to wind up their business today and adjourn.

The canon, tinged with liberalism and representing the first drastic changes in the rules of the church on marriage and divorce since 1808, was endorsed by the convention yesterday. It resulted from a compromise in plans advanced by the house of bishops and the house of clerical and lay deputies.

Persons who have been divorced and remarried in contravention to the law of the church are given cognizance in the new canon. With the approval of ecclesiastical courts, operating through the bishops, they may retain their communicant status and be admitted to baptism, confirmation and holy communion.

The canon provides for premarriage instruction by ministers, who may not perform the solemnization service unless they have been notified of the intent of the parties to the marriage three days in advance.

The canon also provides that the bishops and ecclesiastical courts recognize adultery as a cause for dissolution or annulment after marriage. The innocent party to a divorce granted on grounds of adultery may be married by a minister of the church, with approval of the bishop.

On prohibition and unemployment, the convention declined to take decisive action. Both the house of deputies and the house of bishops adopted a committee report asserting there was a wide-spread difference of opinion of the wisdom and desirability of retaining present form.

The convention, however, viewed the question as "highly controversial and closely related to partisan politics," and declared it would be unwise "to ask the church . . . to pass on questions thus involved."

Despite statements by several convention leaders that plans for constructive action by the church on industrial dislocation, would be a great moral and spiritual force in the present situation, the convention drafted no unemployment program.

The deputies, however, adopted a resolution offered by George W. Vickersham, lay delegate from New York, advising ministers and members of the church to aid local relief committees.

The convention put itself on record as favoring disarmament and recommending the United States join the world court.

A joint session of the houses this afternoon for reading of the bishops' pastoral letter was to be the last official meeting of the convention.

2 GIPSY WOMEN HELD IN SWINDLE CASES

Milwaukee. — (AP) — Two Gypsy women, members of a group of 51 arrested at Elkhorn, Wis., were detained by authorities here today pending arrival of Mrs. Anna Clauson, Stevens Point, Wis., who will attempt to identify them as a pair who allegedly swindled her out of $1,200 with a "money-doubling" scheme.

Proposals of local authorities to prosecute the women at the identification of George Freck, 52, who accused them of obtaining $360 from him last summer, were weakened later when Freck said he believed his identification inaccurate.

New Brown Skinned Race Is Found In U. S., Writer Says

Chicago. — (AP) — Edwin R. Embree, president of the Julius Rosenwald fund, says in a book, just published, that a new race of brown skinned people, has been found in the United States.

The group, of whom there are 12,000,000 members, was formed of the fusion of blacks, whites, and yellow-browns, and is new in biological makeup, the writer says in his "Brown America, the Story of a New Race." The family tree of the new race, he writes, has deeper roots than that of the Mayflower descendants, and has evolved in a century, as compared with the aeons required to develop the Egyptians, Greeks, Jews or Chinese.

POLITICS FINDS BIG PUZZLE IN BEER QUESTION

Conference of New Jersey G. O. P. Illustrates Difficulties

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington. — (CPA) — The New Jersey conference of Republican leaders to determine what to do about beer illustrates the difficulties of a political character that are piling up at the doorstep of the White House.

Mr. Hoover thus far has given no indication of sympathy with the clamor for 3 per cent beer, largely because he feels the Wickersham nullification of the eighteenth amendment by subterfuge, such as amendment of the Volstead act should not be tolerated. But this does not dispose of the political problem.

It is conceded that New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut and Pennsylvania are overwhelmingly wet. The Republican party in each of those states, conceding to would itself the uncompromising dry side of the argument and give the Democrats the wet vote.

Hence the urged recently to get the president to agree to support a national-wide referendum. Such a proposal for the Democratic national platform is sponsored by Joseph Shouse, executive chairman of the Democratic national committee.

If both parties were to recommend a referendum, the issue would then become individual or personal. Each candidate for office could say how he would vote but the parties would be pledged to give the people the opportunity to decide. Also each candidate could say if he chose that he would conform to the results of the referendum.

Dry's Attitude

The idea of a referendum has heretofore been steadfastly opposed by the drys on the ground that a clear-cut issue is not possible either because of the problem of getting a satisfactory wording of the question to be submitted or because of present election machinery for prohibition would become complicated with other local issues and questions voted on at the same time.

Mr. Wickersham, however, made a concrete recommendation to overcome this difficulty. He said that if congress would submit to the several states a straight-out repeal amendment with an alternative proposal and that if the new amendment were to be voted upon by constitutional conventions called in each state expressly for that purpose, the delegates to be elected in a year in which there was no presidential election, the country would have the opportunity for a real referendum.

To get congress by a two-thirds vote to submit either a repeal or revocation of the eighteenth amendment is admittedly a long way off as the present congress is believed to contain a majority of drys, though nobody knows how the new members will line up until there is a test vote in the session beginning next December.

Meanwhile the 1932 campaign will have to be fought with prohibition playing some part in the two national platforms and the various state platforms. In the big eastern states, the Republicans probably will advocate a referendum whether or not Mr. Hoover wants it. They have hopes that he will not object to the insertion of some such clause in the national platform, too, so that it will not be at variance with the state platforms. The idea of a referendum to postpone decision and "pass the buck" to the people is not new in the history of prohibition and has often been supported by political conventions of both parties.

So history may be found repeating itself in 1932 with a demand for referendum from both parties and a demand thereafter that each candidate state how he would vote in such a referendum.

BUDGET SHORTAGE DUE TO FEWER STUDENTS

Madison. — (AP) — The University of Wisconsin administration faces a shortage of about $100,000 in its budget because of a 7 per cent decrease in student enrollment this fall, according to James D. Phillips, business manager.

The present enrollment, said F. O. Holt, university registrar, is 8,700, or 600 less than last year.

Mr. Phillips estimated five-sixths of the 600 decrease is due to a smaller non-resident enrollment.

HEATING PLANT HEARING TO BE HELD IN MADISON

Madison. — (AP) — The legislative interim committee to investigate the feasibility of consolidating the university and capital heating plants will meet here within two weeks.

Sen. Glenn Roberts, Madison, said today. Sen. O. S. Loomis, Mauston, will call the meeting. E. D. Dillon, Madison consulting engineer has prepared data on operating costs.

Chicken Boo-yah Tonight, Golden Eagle.

and is new in biological makeup, the writer says in his "Brown America, the Story of a New Race." The family tree of the new race, he writes, has deeper roots than that of the Mayflower descendants, and has evolved in a century, as compared with the aeons required to develop the Egyptians, Greeks, Jews or Chinese.

Mr. Embree's researches, the book says, has led him to the conclusion that more than half of the Negroes in America have some white or Indian blood.

"Black forefathers of the new race" he wrote, "were among the first white settlers of the New World. In 1619, according to John Smith's General History, there arrived in Jamestown, a Dutch man of Warre, that sold us twenty Negroes." So just 12 years after the establishment in Virginia of the first permanent British colony in America, and a few months before the Mayflower landed the Pilgrims at Plymouth, the beginnings of the new race were made.

The diversity of Africans brought in during slave days, even with no admixture of white or Indian blood, the author continued, would itself have produced a new race different from any single tribe in Africa. But white and Indian blood began to be used with the black.

"No special odium," he wrote, "was attached to the begetting of mulatto children in slave days. It was regarded almost as a matter of course."

BEND LAKE SHORE LINE FOR TRAFFIC

Job of Linking North and South Routes Already Underway

Chicago. — (AP) — Once more Chicago is calling on its flexible lake shore line for traffic relief.

Broad boulevards strung along parkways reclaimed from Lake Michigan in the last decade have done much to ease congestion, providing high-speed "outer drives" both north and south from the loop.

Now the job of linking these north and south routes is under way. It involves construction of a $10,000,000 viaduct and bridge over the mouth of the Chicago river.

This entails pushing the shore line immediately south of the river's mouth 445 feet farther out, but Chicago has so completely tamed its shore line that this part of the job is incidental.

Some 78,000 automobiles pass over the famous Michigan avenue bridge each average day at present. Much of this is through traffic which must forsake the scenic and speedy lake front drives and join this congested stream to get over the river.

Officials of the Chicago Plan commission estimate that the new bridge — it is scheduled for completion by October, 1932 — will carry a daily traffic load of 60,000 cars.

POLICE RECOVER STOLEN CAR HERE

A Buick touring car, 1923 model, owned by Miles Jackson, 109 S. Doty-st., Neenah, was recovered by police here yesterday on S. Spruce-st. It had been stolen from the parking lot at Cinderella hall room on the Lake-st. just outside the city limits Sunday evening. The machine was abandoned on Spruce-st., where it was recovered by Officer Albert Deltgen.

DEMOCRAT IS EASY VICTOR IN MISSOURI

Robert D. Johnson Wins by Large Majority in Seventh District

Sedalia, Mo. — (AP) — Hopes of the Democrats that they might be able to control the next house of congress soared today as nearly complete returns from yesterday's special election in the seventh Missouri congressional district showed an overwhelming victory for Robert D. Johnson.

Johnson, a Marshall attorney, known in Missouri as a "fighting Democrat," won from his Republican opponent, former Representative John W. Palmer of Sedalia, by approximately 3,000 votes. Johnson's victory gave the Democrats 14 seats in the house, the same number as now held by the Republicans. One seat is held by a member of the Farmer-Labor party.

L. L. Collins of Springfield, who ran as an independent anti-prohibition candidate, finished a poor third. Both Johnson and Palmer had the approval of the Anti-Saloon League and the Women's Christian Temperance Union.

The special election was made necessary by the recent death of Representative Samuel C. Major, Democrat of Fayette.

Democratic leaders of the state and nation today hailed Johnson's decisive victory as an indication of the trend of six other special elections to fill house vacancies, all of which will have been held by the night of Nov. 3, and the general election in 1932.

While the district is normally Democratic by 1,500 to 3,500 votes, Johnson's triumph was more top-heavy than even his most optimistic supporters had predicted. In the last seven regular congressional elections in the district, Major won five times, losing to Roscoe C. Patterson of Springfield, in the Harding landslide in 1920 and to Palmer in the Hoover landslide in 1928. In 1928 Palmer defeated Major by 6,485 votes, while Major won from Palmer two years later by 2,579.

Missouri Democratic leaders said they regarded the decisiveness of Johnson's victory as partly due to Palmer's defense of the Hoover administration, the Federal Farm board and the tariff, with present economic conditions also playing a major part. Throughout the campaign, Johnson assailed the farm board and the tariff.

Johnson, 47, has never been defeated for any office he sought. He served two terms as circuit clerk of Saline-co and two terms as prosecuting attorney.

STATE UNIVERSITY ENROLLMENT OFF 600

Madison. — (AP) — The loss of about 600 students in the University of Wisconsin enrollment this year is expected to reduce the university's budget by $100,000, according to James D. Phillips, business manager.

Most of the loss in enrollment, he said, is among non-resident student students from whom the university derives tuition fees.

FORUM COMMITTEE OUTLINES PROGRAM

Four Sub-committees Appointed by Lyle D. Utts, Chairman

The forum committee of the chamber of commerce, which met in the chamber offices Tuesday afternoon, outlined a program of six general meetings to be held jointly this winter with the four luncheon clubs of the city. Dr. Lyle D. Utts, chairman of the committee, appointed four sub-committees to begin work on the proposed general forum meetings.

Morris Edwards, Washington, D. C., tax expert with the United States chamber of commerce, will speak at the first general meeting to be held Oct. 28. One other meeting will be held before Christmas, with the other four scheduled after the holidays. The programs at these meetings will be presented by the forum committee.

Members on the speakers' bureau committee are Lewis L. Alsted, Robert Ebbesen and Seymour Gmeiner; inter-club committee, Fred E. Schlantz, Dr. E. L. Bolton, A. P. Swanson and E. W. Young; entertainment committee, H. J. Gillette, Roger R. Tuttrup, C. D. Thompson; fellowship committee, H. D. Purdy, Heber Pelky and Lacey Horton.

50 Arrested In Drive On Traffic Law Offenders

A new police drive against traffic law violators in Appleton this month has resulted in the arrest and fining of more than 50 drivers since Aug. 1, records at the municipal court reporter's office show. Ordinarily the municipal court handles from 26 to 30 cases of city traffic violations in a month.

Police Chief George T. Felm, commenting on this increased activity of the police squads, said that it is part of his program for protection of school children and a continuation of the drive to protect pedestrians.

Many of the speeders, which led the list of offenders, were arrested. Chief Felm said in the vicinity of schools. The chief said he had issued a warning to motorists to learn where the schools are located and to make every effort to practice caution and observe the speed laws when passing these districts. Motorist officers have received instructions to patrol these districts carefully and arrest all offenders.

Other arrests this month were made for jumping arterials, passing red lights, parking in restricted areas, failure to obey traffic officer's signals, reckless driving, etc.

ILLINOIS FARMER IS NOT GUILTY OF CRUELTY TO PIGS

Chicago. — (AP) — A jury in criminal court has come to the conclusion that the diet and home life of Farmer William Schroeder's pigs are all that they should be.

By its decision, given yesterday, Mrs. Irene Castle McLaughlin, the famous dancer, lost what appeared to be the final round in her fight with Farmer Schroeder whom she accused of being cruel to his pigs, by feeding them unpalatable fare and allowing them to walk around in the mud on his farm near Wheeling, Ill.

Schroeder originally was convicted in a lower court and fined $10. He appealed to the criminal court, where the jury ruled he could take his $10 and go back home. Before he left, however, he intimated he might take civil action against the north shore society leader, and champion of the rights of friendless animals.

LAY BLACK GRANITE BASE FOR NEW HOME OF POST-CRESCENT

Speed Up Work on Building to Get Structure Under Cover

With the first slab of concrete poured for the first floor, workmen of the Tapager Construction Co. Monday morning started laying black ornamental granite for the base of the new Appleton Post-Crescent building, now under construction on the northwest intersection of N. Superior and W. Washington-sts.

F. J. Reis, supervising architect for Foeller, Schober and Berners, Green Bay architects, is supervising work on the building.

The ornamental black granite will entirely surround the base of the new structure, and will be used in construction of the entrance. It is being shipped here from quarries at Cold Springs, Minn., and is known as Cold Springs granite.

Within the next two or three days a crew of 12 to 15 bricklayers will start building the walls. The structure is to be of Mankato stone.

Excavation for the large driveway and service court, west of the new structure was completed Monday morning. The entire court and driveway will be built of reinforced concrete.

Construction will be hurried as much as possible to get the building under cover in a short time, Mr. Reis says.

50 RESERVATIONS MADE FOR REUNION

Members of Meating Educational Pilgrimage to Gather Here Oct. 17

Approximately 50 lephes have been received by A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools, for reservations for the reunion of members of the educational pilgrimage to Europe, which he sponsored last summer. There were 331 people on the trip with Mr. Meating, and between 250 and 300 of these are expected to be in Appleton on Saturday, Oct. 17, for the reunion banquet and program.

The event is to be staged at Conway hotel where the four members will meet in the afternoon. A banquet will be served at 6:30, followed by a program at which speakers will be Mr. Meating and various officials of the transportation companies which arranged the tour. There also will be entertainment by members of the party who took part in the ship's concerts on the two ocean voyages. After the dinner and program there will be dancing, with music by Ned Adams Gophers of the University of Minnesota. Members of this orchestra accompanied the Meating party as its official orchestra. There also will be a card party in connection with the reunion.

FORMULATE PLANS FOR OPENING OF ZUELKE BUILDING

80 Per Cent of Office Suites in New Structure Now Occupied

Plans for formal dedication of the new Irving Zuelke building are being formulated, it was announced this morning by Irving Zuelke. It is hoped to have the structure completed ready for the opening shortly after Dec. 1.

Approximately 80 per cent of the office suites in the six-story building now are occupied. Some of the unoccupied offices have been spoken for, and the remainder probably will be filled in the near future, Mr. Zuelke said.

Work is being rushed on the corridors on the various floors. The main lobby, constructed entirely of marble, is almost completed and has been opened to the public.

The lobby is equipped with modernistic Gothic lighting fixtures which harmonize with the entire design of the structure. As soon as workmen finish the corridors the mezzanine floor will be completed. Little work has been done on this floor since preliminary construction was completed.

Both the freight and passenger elevators are operating daily. The passenger elevator is the only one of its kind in this part of Wisconsin.

ALLOW GRAIN COMPANY TO MOVE BUILDING

The Lethen Grain company was given permission to move a building 28 by 60 feet from the corner of N. Richmond and W. Washington-sts. to a site west of the elevator on College-ave and Badger-ave at a meeting of the board of building inspection Tuesday morning. The building will be set on a stone foundation and covered with steel and remodeled with a brick front. The grain company was also granted a permit to remove all old buildings at the corner of W. Washington and N. Richmond, thus removing all fire hazards on this site.

Grass Seeding Should Be Done Now For Best Results

If you would have a beautiful carpet of green for your outdoor living room sow grass seed in the fall. This is Nature's lawn making time. To most of us it just doesn't seem natural to sow seed in the fall. Winter is just ahead and the lawn isn't supposed to look like anything then, so after a family conference many folks decide to "just wait until spring."

The fact that winter is just ahead is the very best reason for a fall sowing than a hot dry summer. Grass takes deeper roots when seeded in the fall, there are cool nights which are particularly favorable for growing grass, the fall rains usually come in sufficient abundance and of utmost importance is the fact that there is not the interference from weeds that spring seeding encounters. A lawn seeded in the fall will not only be much farther along in a year's time than a spring seeded lawn, but it is almost certain to be in healthier condition.

Revamping An Old Lawn

To attempt to improve an established lawn that was originally built upon poor soil, merely by fertilizing and top dressing, will never give complete satisfaction. In fact, time and money will be saved if the entire area is spaded up, good top soil added and a new seed bed established. It is really not at all expensive to spade up an average sized lawn and revamp it. If you are faced with the problem of remarking an old lawn, get the work done this fall so a new stand of grass can be established before next spring.

Late Mowing Of Lawns.

On established lawns it is not advisable to keep mowing the grass right up to freezing weather. Leaf growth of the grass is necessary to bring about storage in the roots of an abundant reserve of organic food with which to start growth in the spring. It is therefore advisable to allow the accumulation of considerable leaf growth in the fall.

Late cutting not only destroys the factory in which such reserves are synthesized but it removes a means by which considerable quantities of snow may be collected and held to serve as a protection to the roots through the winter.

As a rule lawns should not be given a protective covering for the winter. In many cases it has been found beneficial to use only a top dressing of well-rotted compost and sand instead of a covering of manure, straw or leaves.

CHAMBER GROUP TO DISCUSS INSURANCE

Appleton Session to Be Preliminary to Green Bay Conference

Opinions of Appleton business men regarding unemployment insurance will be aired at a meeting of the special chamber of commerce in the chamber offices at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon. The meeting here will be a preliminary to a session of the interim committee of the state legislature at Green Bay Friday when the measure will be discussed at a session of representative business heads from throughout this part of the Fox river valley. Members of the Appleton committee are expected to attend the Bay meet.

C. K. Boyer, chamber president, selected the group of representative chamber members late last week. The committee is composed of the following: J. N. Fisher, chairman, A. F. Kletzien, John H. Neller, E. C. Hilfert, Fred C. Heinritz, F. N. Belanger, Seymour Gmeliner and R. O. Schmidt.

Blames "Peace-Time Traitors" For Continuation Of Depression

CONFIDENCE IS BROKEN DOWN, EDITOR CLAIMS

Program Under Way to Undermine Economic Order, Chapple Declares

Peace-time traitors, who would be shot for treason in Italy, for similar activity, can be held directly responsible for the length of the bread lines and the number of unemployed in America, this winter, John B. Chapple, managing editor of the Appleton Daily Press, told a meeting at Hotel Northern yesterday noon.

"The business reaction in the latter part of 1929 and 1930 was a normal readjustment from a period of over-expansion of credit in the United States," the editor said, "but everyone from the servant maid to the yacht owner participated." He said, "All business indices indicate that this readjustment was completed early this year, and we would be, right now, in a period of solidly expanding good times, but for one thing—the destruction of confidence and the spreading of fear by peace-time traitors attempting to undermine our faith in the American economic order."

"These traitors are active today in our state and throughout our nation. They would have us forsake the principles which have given the American people in bad as well as in good times, the highest standard of living in the world and which have made the American nation the outstanding achievement of all civilizations."

"Under the opportunity of world-wide depression, these traitors have grown daring in their attempts to undermine our faith in the American economic order, with which our family and home life is so inextricably interwoven. These traitors have taken advantage of temporary distress to breed peace-time traitors spreading their poisonous, fear-producing doctrine in Germany and England shook the morale of those nations and brought them close to the verge of bankruptcy."

Impulses frozen. "Where is the destructive doctrine, which has frozen with fear the normal impulses of many Americans the wheels of industry would now be turning, filling our normal needs."

"But people have been paralyzed by the deadly doctrine, and have become a part of the economic system. They do not buy. And without normal orders, the factory wheels do not turn. With factory employment restricted, we have bread lines. These bread lines are the direct results of the fear which has been spread by those who would supplant the American system by socialism."

"The leaders of this destructive movement are motivated by their own lust for personal power and their own greed for personal gain, prolonging depression and increasing suffering, or we thought they often succeed in building up their own personal fortunes so that they experience none of the hardships which they bring upon their followers."

Strenuously scoring half-truths, the speaker said that the fundamental cause for the present economic and economic world unrest lies buried under half truths told by those who do not want the real truth to be known.

Blames Half Truths. "Those of us who should be active in exposing those half truths have been asleep, or we thought it was somebody else's job, or we have thought it unimportant," he said.

"The idea has been fostered upon us that this is just another cycle through which the world has to pass. It will blow over of its own accord, we have been lulled to believe. We have been lulled into inactivity by such half truths formed into phrases and slogans. It is time that the technique of the drug peddler of half truths be revealed by those who understand their cunning, unscrupulous tactics."

"The planning that Russia is the outstanding example of a nation ruled by destructive half truths, Mr. Chapple told of his observations of the plague and its results in England, Germany and Italy, and other nations in Europe. He said that the disciples of the plague have carried the plague to the United States in America, and that it now festers in Wisconsin."

The plague thus far in America, he observed, has been directed primarily against the faith of Americans in individual initiative, in the American system of private ownership and operation of industry, the foundation of the economic order. The forces working for the destruction of the church and religion, marriage and the home, are intertwined with those seeking the undermining of the economic order, he claimed.

Charging that organized efforts similar to those made in Russia have been adopted by interlocked organizations both in Wisconsin and the nation, he warned against too much scoffing at the possibility of Russia's extreme program being carried out here. He quoted President Hoover's warning against the "siren's song" in his Memorial day address.

Scores Socialists

"Do you know that two years ago a sweeping socialist state ownership program was introduced in the Wisconsin legislature? It was something merely to give municipalities the same rights as private individuals," he asked. "Do you know that the champions of this misleading program were the Socialist Mayor Hoffman of Milwaukee and Carl D. Thompson of Chicago? They made a tool out of the Wisconsin League of Municipalities. A man in the office of the Public Ownership league, located in Chicago, told me that Thompson prepared the briefs for all the legislative bills now before the Wisconsin legislature. He turned them over to Mayor Hoffman, who got the League of Municipalities to take

PROFESSOR'S WRONG, FRIENDS SAY DUCE LIKES TO WHISTLE

Rome —(AP)—Premier Benito Mussolini is an excellent whistler with a good musical ear, his friends said today when they were told of an assertion by Dr. Charles Grey Shaw, professor of Philosophy at New York University, that only morons whistle and great men never do.

When the premier was a newspaper man, his friends said, he used to do his whistling at the office but now he whistles at home.

them up, and through the league the Progressives were induced to introduce the measures as a part of the Progressive program."

As further evidence that the bill had its inception in socialist sources he introduced a quotation from the Campaign Issues of the League of Municipalities of New York, which, except for minor words, is identical with the wording of part of Bill No. 9-5, introduced in the Wisconsin legislature by Senator Loomis in 1931, and signed by the governor on April 16.

Thompson, he explained, is secretary of the Public Ownership league of America, which he says for years has been endeavoring to make the state a competitor of its own citizens; that he at one time was nominated as the Socialist candidate for president, and that he has acted as the Socialist campaign manager, making his nominating speech; that he prepared a socialist campaign textbook and was one of the trustees of the People's college at Port Scott, Kas., of which the late Eugene V. Debs was chancellor; that he has acted as the Socialist party; that he has quoted from Marx, and that he helped draft many of the measures which put the state of North Dakota into many lines of business, including banking, building, insurance, warehousing, etc.

"And on the title page of the brief submitted by the League of Wisconsin Municipalities to the interim Wisconsin legislature," he said, "you will find these words, 'The major work of preparing this brief was done by Carl D. Thompson, public Ownership League of America.'"

He stated that both Governor LaFollette and President Frank of the University of Wisconsin are members of one of the committees of the American Civil Liberties Union, New York, terming it "the destructive dangerous organization which among other things loans money to Communist organizations to support their destructive attack in America."

Professor Alexander Meiklejohn, head of the experimental college at the University of Wisconsin, is also a member of the committee, he said, as well as one of the vice presidents of the Socialist League for Industrial Democracy. Another vice-president, he said is Norman Thomas, New York Socialist leader and socialist candidate for president, who in a newspaper interview declared that if he would wipe out the entire constitution of the United States.

"When Norman Thomas came to Madison this year, President Frank and Duncan, LaFollette's secretary, presided at his two meetings, while the governor had a half-hour conference with him," he said. "In this conference it was decided that a red flag of revolution were flying from windows in the student quarters of the University of Wisconsin on May Day this year."

Still more significant, he said, is the fact that Harry Ward, chairman of the organization, was awarded a honorary degree at the University of Wisconsin this spring. He reminded his audience that William F. Foster, the Communist party in America who gets his orders direct from Moscow, was formerly with Ward's organization.

Quoting the platform of the Madison newspaper mouthpiece of the Progressive-Socialist movement, "public ownership of natural resources and those activities vested with public interest—light, heat, power, transportation," the Ashland editor said that this is the same program enforced by bullets in Russia. The editor, he stated, is one of the original members of the board of trustees of the Victor L. Berger national foundation, which aims to build a chain of Socialist newspapers; and vice president of the Public Ownership league of America, which has Senator LaFollette and Governor LaFollette as also vice presidents.

"The chairman of the most important committee in the state legislature is a socialist," he declared. He was recently named executive secretary to the Governor.

Shows Amalgamation. "The amalgamation of Socialists and Progressives is now being unmasked. Leading Socialists have made it plain that they believe socialism and progressivism are now running hand in hand."

The "boring from within" tactics used to insinuate a socialist program into the Wisconsin League of Municipalities, and in the state Federation of Labor, the disfiguring of the socialism program under the name of progressivism, the efforts to turn students of the university into socialists, all are examples of the attempts to promote this destructive program, he maintained. He compared the likeness in a quotation from the constitution of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, with the wording of Joint Resolution, 10-S, which seeks to amend the constitution of Wisconsin. This bill, he said, would make it possible for the state to buy coal mines in any state in the union, take over any factory in the state, buy timber lands, and organize banks. It would permit the state to go into almost any kind of business, he explained.

"Do you think this movement will stop with one or two industries?" he asked, mentioning the attempt to empower cities to build plants for the bottling and distribution of milk, and to put the state in the cement business and the insurance business. He concluded with a plea that each one of his audience enlist himself actively in a vigorous effort to stamp out the spreading of half truths and class hatred by those who lust for place and power is greater than their desire to maintain American freedom and opportunity.

FEWER HUNTERS GET LICENSES THIS SEASON

Only 600 Issued by Clerk Compared to Over 1,000 Last Year

Fewer Outagamie-co hunters are expected out tomorrow when the hunting season opens on game birds and ducks. John E. Hantschel, county clerk, said this morning that only about 600 licenses had been issued by his office so far this year, compared to well over 1,000 in the same period last year. Last year there was a total of more than 4,000 licenses issued. This year Mr. Hantschel estimates the total will not exceed 2,000. One of the reasons for the decrease, Mr. Hantschel points out, is that the deer season was open last year. He also credited the shortened period for duck hunting as another cause of the reduction.

For the first time in four years hunters will have an opportunity to try their luck for prairie chicken and partridges. The open season, declared by the conservation commission, on ruffed grouse or partridge, sharp-tailed grouse and partridges, opens tomorrow and continues through Sunday. However, the open season applies only in certain counties.

In Ashland, Bayfield, Douglas, Marathon, and Sawyer-co the season will be opened for sharp-tailed grouse and prairie chicken, but not for ruffed grouse (partridge) in Buffalo, Pepin, Pierce, Trempealeau, and Washington-co the season will be open only for ruffed grouse (partridge). The season will be open on all three species in Adams, Barrington, Burnett, Chippewa, Clark, Dunn, Eau Claire, Jackson, Juneau, Monroe, Polk, Portage, Price, Rusk, St. Croix, Taylor, Waushara, and Wood-co.

The daily bag limit in all open counties is three birds of one species or all three species. The possession limit is the same. The hunting may be done at 6 a. m. but must close at five in the afternoon.

The duck hunting season opens at noon tomorrow, game wardens have warned hunters. They urge observance of this regulation.

2 TO HAVE HEARING IN STATUTORY CASE

Menasha and Stockbridge Men Released on $1,000 Bonds Each

Robert Billington, 21, Menasha, and Hoke Golden, 21, Stockbridge, were arraigned in court before Justice John P. Hume at Chilton yesterday on statutory charges. Preliminary hearing was set for Oct. 10, and each furnished bonds of $1,000. Justice Hume said the story told by two Ocheshock girls, both 25 years old, on which the pair was arrested was to be carefully investigated before the hearing.

ACQUIT SEYMOUR MAN ON ASSAULT CHARGE

A jury in circuit court yesterday afternoon found Edward Ganzel, town of Seymour, not guilty of assault and battery. The jury retired at 12:30, to lunch, returned at 2:45, and reached a verdict at 2:45. Ganzel had previously been convicted in municipal court and a fine of $10 and costs was imposed. The costs were $81. He appealed to the higher court. If he had been found guilty he also would have had to pay the costs of the higher court trial. Ganzel was arrested on complaint of Henry Ploger, town of Seymour, who charged the defendant struck his daughter, Miss Esther Ploger, during an argument following a meeting of the Woodland rural school district, town of Seymour.

The Ganzel case was the first jury case to be tried in the September term of circuit court. The term opened last week but jury cases did not start until yesterday.

FORESTER BOWLERS OPEN SEASON TONIGHT

Forester bowlers will open the 1931 season at 7 o'clock tonight when six teams take the runways at Arcade alleys. The league will roll every Wednesday night during the season.

OPTIMIST WEEK TO BE OBSERVED HERE

"Optimist Week" will be observed by Appleton club when the organization meets Thursday noon at Conway hotel. Club speakers will give short talks on Optimism. Clubs throughout the country are observing the week.

Building Permits

One building permit was issued Tuesday by John N. Welland, building inspector. It was granted to John Hare Sons, 116 S. Locust-st, one car garage, cost $50.

tempt to empower cities to build plants for the bottling and distribution of milk, and to put the state in the cement business and the insurance business. ## MONTHLY RUBBISH COLLECTION STARTS EARLY NEXT WEEK

All rubbish receptacles of a permanent nature will be left at the curb next week during the monthly cleanup, unless the collectors are notified otherwise. All paper and other perishable receptacles will be collected and dumped with the rest of the rubbish.

Street department workers will start collecting at 7 o'clock Monday morning, and continue until the entire city has been canvassed. North and south streets will be taken first, and east and west second.

TRY MAN CHARGED WITH ATTEMPT TO BURGLARIZE CHURCH

Case Is Expected to Go to Circuit Court Jury Today or Tomorrow

Trial of John Frawley, 54, Chicago, on charges of breaking into and entering the First Baptist church, here with intent to commit burglary, opened before a jury yesterday afternoon in circuit court. The trial was still under way this morning, but the prosecution was expected to close its case before noon.

Frawley was arrested on the night of July 26, when passersby saw him leaving the church and called the attention of Officer Hendricks to the fact. Frawley was held while Officer Hendricks and Sergeant John Duval went to the church, where they found a coat and hat, which it is claimed were Frawley's, and a number of burglar tools, among these tools was a sledge hammer, long iron bar, chisels, a screw driver, flashlight and fly paper, which had been used to paste on a window when it was broken.

One of the state's witnesses, George Sutton, who operates a small machine shop on N. Appleton-st identified the sledge hammer as the one which Frawley brought to his shop to have the handle shortened.

Frawley has a long list of aliases and a long court record, according to the state. Among his aliases are: Frank Adams, John Bolan, John Carroll, James Riley and John W. Dillon. Frawley was convicted in Cook-co, Ill., in 1904, of burglary and sentenced to from one to 20 years.

Jailed in New York. He again was convicted in Manhattan court, New York, in May, 1917, of attempted grand larceny and was sentenced to two and one-half years in Sing Sing prison. In September, 1922, he was convicted of burglary in York-co, Maine, and sentenced to two and a half years in the state prison there. In addition, the state contends, Frawley has been arrested for many smaller offenses. The case is expected to go to the jury late this afternoon or early tomorrow. The defense has not yet indicated what defense Frawley's contention would be.

Members of the jury are: Theodore Bell, route 5, Seymour; Mrs. Mabel DeLong, Appleton; Henry Dobbertin, route 2, Hortonville; Henry Froehlich, Appleton; S. S. Hesse, route 2, Seymour; Albert R. Klug, route 1, New London; Frank J. Lauder, Seymour; Charles M. Schell, route 1, Little Chute; A. A. Stritzel, route 2, Kaukauna; Frank C. Tank, Appleton; Albert G. Van Wyk, Appleton; Edmund Wiese, Seymour.

SUBSCRIBE $970.60 TO SALVATION ARMY

First Day's Returns Not Up to Expectations, Drive Chairman Says

Because donors of special gifts apparently have set too low standards, results of the first day's return of the annual Salvation Army drive for funds are below expectations, Eric L. Lindberg, chairman, said today. A check of subscription lists night revealed that $970.60 had been collected or subscribed by donors.

"Employees of manufacturing companies and business houses are responding nicely in the drive," Mr. Lindberg said, "but the donors of gifts have not subscribed the amounts they were expected to."

Yesterday's collections were started by the committee directing the program, among 300 prospects. There are 50 workers engaged in the drive. The fund they are seeking is $5,500.

Another meeting of drive workers will be held at 6 o'clock Wednesday evening. The final session will be held Friday evening. Thursday has been designated as "Clean up day."

Dr. D. S. Runnels is conducting the drive in approximately 70 stores and mills in the city. B. J. Rohan in the various schools, and Dr. Henry M. Wriston at Lawrence college.

CLAPP PRESIDENT OF LAWRENCE FRESHMEN

Norman Clapp, who was graduated from Appleton high school last spring, has been elected president of the freshman class at Lawrence college.

Miss Joan Young of Racine is vice president, James Laird of Black Creek treasurer, and Miss Helen Rund of Lawrence secretary. Thomas Conner of Chippewa Falls will represent the class on student senate, and Howard High of Milwaukee is the foreman board representative.

BIRTHS

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Philip McCarthy, Kimberly, at St. Elizabeth hospital Wednesday.

WOMAN'S CLUB OPENS ANNUAL DRIVE TONIGHT

Workers' Organization Dinner Scheduled for 6 O'clock This Evening

The 1931 financial drive of the Appleton Woman's club will begin officially tonight with the workers' organization dinner at 6 o'clock at the Woman's club. Workers will open the city-wide campaign early Thursday morning and continue until Monday, the closing day of the drive.

Mrs. W. F. McGowan is in charge of the drive. She will be assisted by a committee consisting of Mrs. H. L. Davis, Mrs. Harry Ingold, Mrs. George Hogreiver, Mrs. George Nolt, Mrs. E. C. Hilbert, Mrs. E. K. Nelson, Appleton's 50 club workers will solicit funds.

The Woman's club sponsors a number of welfare activities in the city during the year, including the Girl Scout organization, Camp Onaway, a summer camp for girls, health clinics in the public schools, baby clinics under the supervision of the Outagamie Medical association, recreation for women and other activities. The club not only sponsors but finances many of these projects.

More than 200 Girl Scouts belong to troops in Appleton, under the supervision of Miss Dorothy Calhoun, scout director. The Woman's club is also the headquarters of the general scout work and the general expense of the organization is maintained by the Woman's club. Mrs. J. P. Frank is chairman of the Girl Scout Committee.

Sponsored Clinic. During April of last year the organization sponsored a tuberculosis clinic under the supervision of the Outagamie Medical association at which 728 high school and vocational school students were examined and 401 were designated for treatment. Two baby clinics were held at different times of the year under the supervision of the Outagamie Medical association for child health as a community interest. From Jan. 1 to May 1 approximately 7,300 bottles of milk were given to undernourished children, representing an expenditure of $400 for the year.

Results from the records of the free unemployment agency maintained by the club show that 1,593 women and girls registered for employment during last year. Of this number 243 were given part time or daily work.

In the recreational program, women's swimming classes were opened by the Y. M. C. A., conducted by a certified instructor, whose salary is maintained by the club. Instruction is given to women and children. The attendance last year reached 1,598 persons. The club house is a community center for various organizations and churches in the city and county. These include the Business and Professional Woman's club, the Appleton Girls' club, monthly meetings of county women, the Delphian society, the Jewish Young People's society, Jewish church school, and committee meetings of the Lady Eagles.

Back Club Work

Several prominent business men and women leaders in club work are backing the Appleton Woman's club in their public approval of the various phases of welfare work which it has accomplished.

Dr. Joseph L. Benton, president of the Outagamie Medical society declared that the undersigned physicians of Appleton, doctors that the health clinic held for high school and vocational school was the most satisfactory clinic ever held in the city. He also said that Appleton doctors again will cooperate with the Woman's club for future clinics.

Gustav Kallier, St. Jude's, the work of the Woman's club in their sponsorship of the Girl Scout movement.

"It is questionable if there would be any Girl Scout organization in Appleton were it not for the Woman's club," Mr. Keller pointed out. "The club supplies the chairman of the Girl Scout community committee, the salary of the local Girl Scout director, and a place for meetings, parties and entertainments for the organization. The Woman's club has sponsored summer camps for the past nine years, which is a wonderful thing for the girls of Appleton. I speak not only as a member of the Girl Scout Community committee but as a father."

W. S. Ryan, physical education director of the Y. M. C. A., states that the program which the club is conducting is one that is planned with care for the needs of different groups in the organization as well as for groups outside of the membership. He declared that the Girl Scouts, swimming activities, lectures and discussions on cultural subjects and the club relief work were important parts of the community life.

Many Praise Program. Mrs. Myron T. Ray, chairman of the Appleton committee of the Wisconsin Children's Home Finding and Home Aid society, expresses the appreciation of the local committee engaged in this work for the donation of office and meeting space by the club. This committee works with children in Appleton under the supervision of the state, and shelter for the unfortunate or mistreated children.

Mrs. J. P. Frank, chairman of the Girl Scout community committee declares that the work of the club is fulfilled when "the members see the joy that is brought to the girls of Appleton by the work of the club. We have when they walk up in Court of Awards for merit badges, and the character and loyalty that is developed at Camp Onaway."

C. K. Boyer, president of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce also praises the sponsoring of the summer camp: "We dads who have boys or girls can't help commending the Woman's club for leading the

FRESHMEN WIND WAY DOWN COLLEGE - AVE ON ALL COLLEGE DAY

A winding, green-capped snake dance down College-ave opened All College day activities at Lawrence college this morning. The day was declared by John Strange, president of the All College club.

At 11 o'clock the annual senior-faculty baseball fracas, the freshman-sophomore coed baseball game, a freshman-sophomore mixed doubles tennis match were held. Lunch was served between 12:30 and 1:30, and from 1:30 to 4 o'clock the time was taken up with the freshman-sophomore bag rush, a horse and rider contest, and a tug-of-war. An all-college dance will be held in the Alexander gymnasium from 8 to 12 o'clock tonight.

Miss Betty Plowright of Menasha was chairman of the coed baseball game; Michael Gochnauer of Appleton of the men's athletic events; Miss Phoebe Nickel of Green Bay of the lunch; Marshall Wiley, Chippewa Falls, of the dance; and Robert Long, Menominee, Mich., of the parade.

"Y" WORKER PLANS FOR LECTURES HERE

Conrad C. Hansen, Santiago, Will Talk to Rotary Club, Oct. 27

Conrad C. Hansen, for the past five years secretary of the Santiago, Chile, Y. M. C. A. was in Appleton Wednesday arranging for a visit here in October when he will give several talks about the South American country.

He will confer with association groups on his next visit, will talk to the Rotary club on Tuesday, Oct. 27, and hopes to talk to high school and college students. "Chile is often called the 'shoe string' republic of South America," Mr. Hansen said. "The country is 50 miles wide over the greater part and is about 2,500 miles long. Its length best can be visualized by recalling that the country properly extend from Alaska to Mexico. City it places along the western coast of North America."

The people of Chile are most progressive, according to Mr. Hansen, and often have been called the Xanks or the English of South America, depending on whether the speaker was an American or an Englishman. At any rate the comparison shows the complement paid to the country.

Most Chileans are of Spanish descent, but many now have a bit of Italian blood. There are few Indians and no Negroes. The Y. M. C. A. has been carrying on in Chile for many years. It is organized to supply local needs rather than needs of Anglo-Saxons who might be living in or visiting the country.

Mr. Hansen recently returned from a tour of 10 European countries. While in Europe he attended the international convention of Rotary at Vienna as a delegate from the Santiago club. The establishment of the sanctuary at Telulah park automatically places all wild life, both plant and animal, under the protection of the state. It is established primarily for the instruction and education of the public, and the public will be welcome at all times. The regulations protecting plant and animal life are drastic, and violations may be severely punished. Fires may not be built within the confines of the sanctuary, nor may any flowers be picked or plants dug up.

PERSONALS

Miss Elizabeth Radtke, who spent the past three weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Radtke, left Sunday for Milwaukee-co Hospital where she is in nurses' training.

Mrs. William Cochran, who spent the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Peterson, 724 W. Lorain-st, has returned to her home in Chicago. She was accompanied by Mrs. Peterson who will visit there.

SHOWERS AND COOLER WEATHER FORECAST

The balmy fall weather of the last few days will depart tonight or Thursday, and in its stead will be showers and cooler weather. Thursday night will be partly cloudy. It will be somewhat cooler in the afternoon and during the night. The southwest wind of the last few days will shift to northwest and send the mercury downward.

way for equal opportunity for our girls," he said.

"Boys' work, boys' club, boy scouts, boys' camps and boys' recreation are splendid things, but Dads of these boys should visit the splendid girls' camp at Onaway island. This camp, under the leadership of the Appleton Woman's club has done for girls just what numerous other organizations are doing for boys."

Samuel Sigman, president of the Appleton Civic council, asserts that the Woman's club not only affords an opportunity for many civic minded women to have facilities with which to pursue their mutual interests, but it is an agency through which many deserving young women can appeal for services. He declares that in aiding girls to obtain work and placing them in self respecting positions, the club is performing a most worthy service.

ESTABLISH WILD LIFE SANCTUARY IN TELULAH PARK

Action Is Approved by Wisconsin Conservation, Report Reveals

Word was received from Madison this morning that establishment of a wild life sanctuary in the territory in and around Telulah park in the Fourth ward had been approved by the Wisconsin Conservation commission at its last regular meeting. The sanctuary will include Telulah park, owned by the Greer, Bay and Mississippi Land Co.; part of the property of the Interlake Division of the Consolidated Water Power and Paper Co.; the Weimar estate, lying just east of the park, and the properties of W. A. Fannon, Frank Roehl, George Roehl, Emil Last, Andrew Grishaber and The Telulah club, the latter a small organization of Telulah sportsmen who have maintained a clubhouse on the river bank for many years. It also will include a considerable portion of the bayou in the Fox river, running from the point at the Spring to the east boundary of Emil Last's property.

Application for the sanctuary was made by the Outagamie Fish and Game Protective association. The refuge or sanctuary system is considered one of the major projects of the Conservation commission and under it all newly established sanctuaries or refuges are to be divided into three classes:

(1) State game refuges, created by the conservation commission through purchase, lease or condemnation of land.

Wild Life Refuges

(2) Wild life refuges, established by the conservation commission upon petition of the landowners. Tracts included in such refuge must be outside of any village or village limits and must comprise at least 160 acres. The commission believes that it is better to have numerous small refuges, than a few large ones. The refuges and sanctuaries furnish safe havens for the wild birds and animals, which soon spread out over the surrounding country, but are still in evidence at the refuge.

(3) Wild life refuges, established by the conservation commission for special education, propagation or protection purposes. These sanctuaries comprise smaller, favorably located tracts not exceeding 40 acres in size. It is in this class that the Telulah park sanctuary belongs.

The sanctuaries are an innovation in the program of the commission. Not only is the local sanctuary one of the first to be established in Wisconsin, but it is believed to be the only similar tract in the state, entirely within the limits of any city, and suitable for sanctuary purposes.

The establishment of the sanctuary at Telulah park automatically places all wild life, both plant and animal, under the protection of the state. It is established primarily for the instruction and education of the public, and the public will be welcome at all times. The regulations protecting plant and animal life are drastic, and violations may be severely punished. Fires may not be built within the confines of the sanctuary, nor may any flowers be picked or plants dug up.

In fact, the mere picking of dandelions without permission from the proper authorities, may subject the offender to a fine. Every plant in the sanctuary is included in this protection and visitors are warned to observe the regulations. Many of the rarer varieties of flowers and shrub, grow within the confines of the park, and these must be carefully guarded to preserve them from extermination.

The bayou just below Telulah springs also is one of the few remaining places in this part of the country where the American Lotus, or white water lily, may still be found. This beautiful flower, together with the trailing arbutus, trillium and certain other wild flowers, has been protected by a special order of the legislature, making it a misdemeanor to pick, offer for sale or buy any of them. Including the bayou in the sanctuary limits will afford these lilies additional protection and, it is hoped, will preserve them for future generations to enjoy.

In addition to the study of plant life offered by the sanctuary, nature lovers will have opportunity to study considerable animal and bird life. A large number of squirrels and rabbits have long made their home here. Due to the efforts of Louis Weimar, who has made and placed scores of bird houses in the orchard and woods on the Weimar estate, practically every songbird native to Wisconsin nests on the grounds. Two years ago a pair of Bob White quail nested there, but disappeared when winter came. The past summer a pair of woodcock, that rare American game bird, nested on the river bank and successfully reared a brood of three. The parent birds and their three young were still in evidence last week. The pair of rail, another bird not at all numerous in this section, also nested among the rushes and pickerel weed of the bayou, and they and their offspring are still there, where they may occasionally be seen by the careful and lucky observer.

In addition to the birds on the plain there by nature, with Mr. Weimar's connivance, the Outagamie Fish and Game Protective association has been instrumental in releasing a number of ring neck pheasants in the park.

Birds Remain There

These birds were hatched from eggs furnished by the conservation commission and raised by Mr. Weimar and his sister, Mrs. Andrew Grishaber. Although they were released several months ago, they seem to have decided to remain in the park

FIND DEALING WITH GANGSTERS IS COSTLY JOB

Many Officials Have Lost Jobs as Result of Contact With Hoodlums

BY OWEN L. SCOTT
Copyright, 1931, By Owen L. Scott, Press Chicago (C.P.A.)—Dealing with Chicago gangsters, whether directly in the role of a prosecuting official, or indirectly, seeking favors to the hoodlums, now is proved to be a troublesome and costly business.

Federal District Attorney E. O. Johnson, most successful battler against local gangs, provided only the latest instance. Mr. Johnson today appeared to have scotched an alleged plot of Terry Druggan and Frankie Lake, local beer barons, to besmirch his reputation with a bribery scheme. Supposedly Al Capone, who comes to trial Oct. 6, on an income tax evasion charge, was involved. But out of the maze of circumstance, it looks now as though Druggan and Lake would face a possible 10 years more in prison when government agents have ferreted out all the facts.

Previously, Mr. Johnson, following precedent, had with the supposed approval of Attorney General William D. Mitchell bargained with Capone about the sentence he would serve on income tax and liquor law violation charges in return for a plea of guilty. According to local information, that deal has cost the district attorney an expected appointment to a federal judgeship.

Loses Her Job

Before that Mabel Tanner Blackledge, former collector of internal revenue for this district, has been inveigled into a friendly game of faro with a couple of local hoodlums. When she had lost $50,000, loaned to her by another local politician, Edward Litsinger, member of the local board of tax review, the story broke and Mrs. Blackledge lost her job. One of the two hoodlums who snared her, later was found shot to death, but the one-time leading feminine politician did not regret her political standing. Mr. Litsinger also lost political prestige.

It was after this deal that Clarence F. Buck, prominent Illinois politician, recommended by United States Senator Otto F. Glenn to succeed Mrs. Blackledge, turned his fingers on a hoodlum. Mr. Buck, at the request of a Chicago politician, supposedly asked Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward to allow a continuance in the income tax case against Jake Guzik, Capone organization general manager. He said that the request was entirely innocent, but it got out, and Senator Glenn is looking for another man for the internal revenue job.

Locally, the political effects of contact with gangsters has been less devastating, but "Big Bill" Thompson, former mayor, may owe some of his loss of standing to the gang representative maintained in his cabinet.

Your Birthday

WHAT TOMORROW MEANS TO YOU
"LIBRA"

If October 1st is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:10 a. m. to 1 p. m., from 5 p. m. to 6:40 p. m., and from 9:30 p. m. to midnight. The danger hours are from 2 p. m. to 4:15 p. m., and from 7 p. m. to 8:15 p. m.

Some unforeseen changes, not so much of immediate, as of ultimate, importance, are foretold by the planetary aspects of October 1st. An element, too, of romance in personal relationships will be fostered, although family ties are under adverse rays. Health conditions should be carefully watched, and all physical strain should be avoided.

The child born on October 1st will be endowed with an inherent sense of justice, and any act founded, not on reason, but on superior force, will produce a jarring effect. It will be very acquisitive of information, have a retentive memory, and is destined to "make good."

Although born on October 1st, and compelled to work for all you get, the signs denote that, as a result of unflinching perseverance and untiring persistence, you do not claim to know it all, and, when up against it, never fail to seek assistance from those in a position to help you. Gratitude for advice given or service rendered is another of your outstanding characteristics.

Difficulties do not dismay you. On the contrary, they apparently furnish an incentive to greater effort. Success, on the other hand, does not give you a swollen head, and when Fortune smiles, you modestly attribute it to good luck. This is not an affectation, but a state of mind.

Without being secretive, you can keep your own counsel, and you often use speech to hide, rather than to express, your inner-

GRANGE MEET TO BE HELD IN MADISON

Expect Low Farm Prices Will Cut Attendance at Sessions

Madison—(AP)—Low farm prices may affect the attendance at the annual convention of the National Grange here Nov. 10 to 20, in the opinion of L. J. Taber, master.

The very ill which delegates to the convention hoped to consider, therefore, may keep them away.

"Last year," one farmer told Mr. Taber, "I could have gone to Madison and back on the rental price of 25 bushels of peaches. This year it will take 110 bushels. That looks heavy, but I am going to go."

The Grange will have Gov. Philip LaFollette, President Glenn Curtis, Former Gov. Frank O. Lowden of Illinois and Chairman James C. Stone of the farm board, have been invited to speak.

Mr. Taber says "the events of each day seem to make the coming session of greater importance. The big farm surpluses, the low farm prices and the many pressing problems all indicate the need of organization, assistance and protection in working out our rural program."

The executive committee of the National Grange will meet in Washington this week to consider legislative proposals and to perfect the program for the convention. A land policy, tax adjustments and reductions will be demanded by the convention and the organization's views on the federal farm board's program

SHORT SELLING IS FROWNED ON IN BAD TIMES

Practice Can Be Agency for Panic, Exchange Authorities Hold

BY CHARLES F. SPEARE
Copyright, 1931, by Cons. Press
Wall Street, New York—(CPA)—
The present agitation over "short selling" has to do with the imposition of bear pressure on markets in times of a credit crisis and not with this recognized feature in trading operations in stocks under what might be regarded as normal Wall Street conditions.

Those who have insisted that "short selling" should now be either abandoned or controlled, and among them are governors of the New York stock exchange, argue that this practice tends to aggravate conditions already disturbed by sales of actual stock for domestic and foreign accounts. They claim that in an emergency the stock exchange authorities should use emergency measures to prevent the situation getting out of hand. Therefore, they are of the opinion that a "free market" is less to be desired under such circumstances than one that may be artificial but retains its balance. Consequently, they have fought for a strict supervision of all transactions having the appearance of "short sales," and have put into effect what amounts to a policing of the stock exchange and strict discipline for those members who have shown a disposition to violate the spirit of the now policy of the business conduct committee.

Has Legitimate Place

There is no intention to impose prohibitions on these "short sales" when the markets are in a normal state. It is recognized that "short selling" at such times has its legitimate place; that its establishment a healthy balance against the opposite performances of the bull party. "Short selling" provides a cushion that frequently protects a market against a too violent decline. A section of Wall Street today argues that there has not been such a cushion when the New York stock exchange opened last week, while European markets were generally closed, there would have been a much more serious decline here.
Short covering then represented a considerable ratio of the total purchases. In two days' operations it is estimated that the outstanding short interest was reduced by several million shares.

"The professional Wall Street attitude on the present stock exchange inhibitions of speculative selling is that if a halter is now to be put around the necks of the bears, why should not the same treatment have been accorded to the bulls in a market such as that of August and September, 1929."

The answer is, of course, that rapidly rising prices of stocks do not create immediate financial crises among individuals or institutions, although their ultimate effects may be harmful. On the other hand,
"short selling" in a period of panic,
by just so much increases the possibility of institutional failures while it brings financial distress to tens of thousands of individuals who have invested their capital in good securities, which securities are made to appear almost worthless by the large daily declines in them.
Terrified holders who own "them outright or are carrying them on borrowed capital are led to sell out and to lose practically all of their equity. Theoretically, there is no more reason why the stock exchange authorities should permit the exploitation of stocks, as it did in 1929, than prohibit "short selling" in 1931. From a practical, and perhaps from the standpoint of public policy, it could not do otherwise than put up the bars against the bears to a level where they could not easily be hurdled.

An analogous situation to that in Wall Street is to be found in the market for sterling exchange. Here also there has been "short selling," which depressed the pound until at one time last week it touched a figure 30 per cent below parity.

Emergency Causes Policy Again it is the emergency that creates the policy and opinion toward bear operations in sterling and not the normal state of affairs.

Chancellor of the exchequer Snowden has made it plain that those who sell sterling "well below its intrinsic value will incur serious risks." This is the same sort of implied threat made to bears on the New York stock exchange who do not follow the injunctions of its policing force concerning artificial sales of stocks. An old Wall Street rhyme runs: "Ho who sells what isn't his'n must buy it back or go to prison."

There will undoubtedly be active effort in Washington this winter to curb "short selling" both of securities and of commodities. A great deal of violent language has already

GOLD PRODUCTION IN U. S. SHOWS DECLINE

Washington—(AP)—An ebb tide in the steady stream of gold flowing from domestic mines to America's well-filled coffers in the next decade is expected by scientists.

Troubles of Great Britain, Sweden and Norway and other gold standard nations have revived discussion here among geologists and mineralogists of this country's future gold supply.

Although none of the experts would venture a flat prediction, all held to the theory future discoveries would be negligible while existing fields slowly would be exhausted.
A sharp break in gold production in 1915 was considered as supporting factor. That year, America reached her production peak, 4,323-672 ounces. It has now declined to slightly more than 2,000,000 ounces annually.

Officials of the geological survey cited a report by the gold delegation of the league of nations financial committee in 1930 as probably the most accurate estimate of America's future production.

POSTAGE IS BOOSTED TO VARIOUS ISLANDS

Word has been received by Em-mery H. Greunke, postmaster, from the federal postal department, of an increase in postage for mail to the Bahamas, Bermuda and other islands in the West Indies area. The new rate of postage will go into effect Nov. 1. Letters after that date must bear 5 cents postage for the first ounce or fraction thereof, each additional ounce, 3 cents; postcards, single, 3 cents, double, 6 cents.
The present rates to these islands are the same as for postage to points within the United States. Further information on the rate boost can be secured at the post office.

been used in characterization of the current bear. In view of this situation, it is well to keep in mind that there are times and situations in which "short selling" is legitimate.
There are other times and conditions when it creates alarm and is an agency for panic. It must then be dealt with by the proper authorities in a way that may temporarily injure a few but be of great benefit to the majority affected by it.

(Copyright, 1931, by Cons. Press)
New York—(CPA)—The Aga
Khan, sleek gourmet and ruler of India's 30,000,000 Moslems, confers with Mahatma Gandhi, emaciated ascetic. From this momentary convergence of ancient cultures there comes something that will tout whistles in Manchester mills, turn new furrows in Louisiana cotton patches, and start blasting and burrowing in Colorado silver mines. Dominion status for India, the lifting of Gandi-hi's boycott on textiles, and the restoration of producing and consuming power among India's 300,000,000 are believed to hinge on the possibility of the Aga Khan's Moslems and the Mahatma's Hindus getting together.

AGA KHAN

Sultan Sir Mahomed Shah Aga, the Aga Khan, is paid a yearly salary equal to his weight in gold.
Annually a committee from his ruling cabinet visits Paris, weighs the Sultan and pays him at $20 an ounce. Naturally, when the sultan feels like a cigarette he reaches for a gumdrop, maintaining his weight around 225 pounds. Once, when browsing for candy in Chambery, southern France, he was served by beautiful and demure Mlle. Andree Carron.

She is quite unlike the lacquered professional beauties who followed the Aga Khan around Europe. He married her and gave her the golden dawn diamond, forthwith among the 75 largest diamonds in the world.
His first wife, Signora Theresa Magliano, of Italy, had died the day he bought the jewel, in 1926.

His bride rules graciously a palace in India, an apartment near the Bols de Boulogne, and a magnificent villa at le Bourget. She remains a Catholic.

The Aga Khan does not have to depend upon his annual weigh-in for a living. Various hereditary fiefs and emoluments give him about $10,000,000 a year to spend, and he does. He has magnificent racing stables in France and England and won the derby with Blenheim last year, when his new wife was present at court. He gives grand banquets, plays high stakes at Monte Carlo, strews largesse in his wake and like old Omar, "takes the cash and lets the credit go." Once a year a state delegation arrives from India to get the water from the Aga Khan's annual purification bath.
The sacred water is bottled and sold among the 30,000,000 faithful. The "take" from this is considerable.

The Aga Khan is the forty-eighth lineal descendant of Fatima, daughmountain." Known as "the lord of the assassins."

Once a beautiful girl, singing in a New York restaurant, saw through the window one winter evening the jeweled and crinined crowd suring into the Metropolitan Opera house. She sank to a chair, buried her face in her hands and wept. "I want to sing there," she sobbed.
She did, within six months—Rosa Ponselle, with the ship news reporters thronging about her today, as she leaves the Isle de France, for another metropolitan season. The capsule story is this:
Rosa and Carmela Ponselle, Meriden, Conn., girls of Italian parentage, had been knocking about in nickelodeons and two-a-day vaudeville a few years. William Thorne, great singing teacher, had accepted Carmela as a pupil but refused to take Rosa. That night at the restaurant, Rosa dried her tears and went to Thorne's house. He told her he did not care to hear her sing. She persisted. To get rid of her, as he later said, Thorne let her sing a few notes. He interrupted her and telephoned for Caruso. Six months later she made her metropolitan debut with Caruso in "Forza Del Destino." Carmela later made her debut in "Aida."

Thorwald Stauning, deep-chested, bearded Viking and Danish premier, announces Denmark's suspension of the gold standard. This is the same Thorwald Stauning who, as a Socialist member of the Danish parliament, stirred the ire of American officialdom by his remarks about America in 1917. In an interview printed in a Berlin newspaper, he was quoted as saying that "capitalist America" had joined the war to sell munitions and protect its investments. Dr. Maurice P. Lagan, American minister to Denmark, lodged an emphatic protest. Stauning stood pat. There was no retrac-tion.

As a Socialist premier, Stauning fights the Communists. After a childhood of grinding poverty, he studied at a workers' night school and entered politics. He patterns his statesmanship on mass education. He is six feet three, weighs 250 pounds, wears a black broadcloth morning coat, and fetches a deep rumbling voice from the far depths of his cavernous chest. He is a Marxist, but says the masses will never rise with violence. He is an ardent peace advocate and has been mentioned for the Nobel prize

ARREST 2 BOYS FOR THEFT OF BICYCLE

Two Appleton boys, one 11 and the other 14 years old, were arrested by police yesterday and charged with the theft of a bicycle from St. Paul school. The boys were arrested when they made attempts to sell the wheel at two business places. They asked $4 for the wheel, which was practically new. The dealers to whom they offered the bicycle became suspicious and notified the police. The two boys are to be taken into juvenile court before Judge Fred V. Heinemann this afternoon.

change he would have received only $38,971.

PUBLIC OWNERSHIP IS DISCUSSED IN WEST

Los Angeles—(AP)—Means of extending public ownership of utilities and resources of the nation were up for consideration at sessions of the Public Ownership League of America here Tuesday.

Dr. Carl T. Thompson of Chicago, the secretary, in addressing opening meeting of the seventh biennial convention yesterday, said exploitation of the natural resources and basic utilities of the nation has resulted in the present business depression.

"Transportation, communication, waterways, light, gas and electric power under private ownership and control," he said, "have become the instrumentalities through which the life and labor of the people have been exploited to such an extent that the present crisis and industrial depression, with all its tragedies, is upon us."

TWO TRAFFIC LAW VIOLATORS FINED

Two traffic law violators were fined when arraigned before Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court this morning. They were: Frank Wronkowski, 800 Linden-st., Menasha, $10 and costs for driving 33 miles an hour on S. Oneida-st.; and Lawrence Vass, 525 E. Calumet-st., $1 and costs for jumping an arrest at the corner of Oneida and Calumet-sts. Both men were arrested by Fred Arndt, motorcycle officer.

Aimee and Hubby Laugh at Suits

Ha, ha—these love suits give Aimee Semple McPherson and her new husband, David Hutton, a big laugh. Here you see them as they arrived at San Francisco, unperturbed by the breach of promise suits filed against Hutton. "The only setting I shall do is settling down with the new Mrs. Hutton," declared the bridegroom.

Corps To Meet At Elk Hall

WOMEN'S Relief corps, Auxiliary to the Grand Army of the Republic, will meet at 2:30 Friday afternoon at Elk hall. Routine business will be transacted and refreshments will be served at the social hour. Mrs. Lillian Trentlage will be chairman of the refreshment committee.

CABBAGE GROWERS TO OPPOSE RATE BOOST

G. C. Campbell, Oshkosh, traffic commissioner of the Fox river valley, will represent the Appleton Chamber of Commerce and the Outagamie-co Cabbage Growers' association in objecting to the increase of cabbage rates proposed by railroads. Members of the Outagamie-co Cabbage Growers' association, the chamber of commerce and Mr. Campbell conferred Tuesday in the offices of the chamber here. Mr. Campbell was authorized to petition the Interstate Commerce commission on behalf of the two organizations to suspend this proposed rate increase.

DISCUSS REORGANIZING TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION

The proposed reorganization of the State Teachers' association was the main discussion at the principals' meeting Tuesday morning at Lincoln school. The plan for reorganization will be presented before Wisconsin teachers at the state convention in Milwaukee in early October. Supt. Ben J. Rohan presided at the meeting.

BOY SCOUT TROOP ADDS TWO MEMBERS

Two more boys, Walter Wriston and Jack Kriger, were admitted to Troop 2 of Boy Scouts at a meeting in the troop room at the Methodist church last night. George Lausman entertained with a whistling program. At the meeting next week at television set, which will be installed in the troop room, will be put into operation.

The final party of a series was given by Christian Mothers society of St. Therese church Tuesday afternoon at the parish hall. Seventeen tables were in play. Prizes for the day were won at bridge by Mrs. S. A. Konz and Mrs. F. J. Schubert, at schafkopf by Mrs. Fred Stille and John Hamrath, at dice by Mrs. H. Dodge, and at plumpsack by Mrs. W. Neugebauer. Mrs. T. P. Day won the grand prize at dice, Mrs. Max Mueller at plumpsack, Mrs. Fred Stille at schafkopf, and Mrs. Fred Stille at bridge. Mrs. Eric Fien and Mrs. William Schultz were in charge.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Looper, 322 W. Sumner-st., were surprised Tuesday evening at their home in honor of their tenth wedding anniversary. A mock wedding took place and dancing provided entertainment. The guests included Edward Hunt, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Achtenberger, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Gochler, Mr. and Mrs. Norville Holcomb, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Selig, Alvin Selig, Mrs. Fred Miller, John Moll, Joseph Ertl, Miss Alice Burke, Raymond Parsons, Al Stabe, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Caze, Reno Kohasky, Mrs. Rose McCann, Mr. and Mrs. William Bendt, Julius Bendt, Miss Connie Stelner, Miss Esther Diener, Miss Leona Bruggeman, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Stutz.

Miss Marion Cautlin entertained at bridge Tuesday night at her home, 1028 E. North-st., in honor of Mrs. Richard Kasten. Eight guests were present. Prizes were won by Mrs. Ray Connell and Miss Helen McCoy.

Miss Lucille Gottschall entertained two tables of bridge Tuesday evening at the home of her sister, Mrs. H. E. Dahl, 725 E. Broadway-st. Prizes were won by Miss Florence Becker and Mrs. Russell Jahas.

The Ladies Aid society of St. Joseph church will hold a card party at 2:30 Thursday afternoon at the parish hall. Schafkopf, bridge, and plumpsack will be played. Mrs. Joseph Doerfler will be in charge.

A 6:30 dinner will entertain the members of General Review club Thursday evening in the log cabin in Alicia park. After the dinner, the club will go to the home of Mrs. Merwin Clough, N. Erb-st., for bridge.

Sixteen little friends surprised Miss Geraldine Dofford, 1127 W. Harris-st., Tuesday afternoon at her home in honor of her eighth birthday anniversary. Games provided the entertainment.

DEPARTMENT CHANGES BOOKKEEPING SYSTEM

A new system of bookkeeping will be installed in the poor department Thursday. The books, which will be kept by the mayor's secretary, will give an itemized account of all aid received by each indigent.

Wisconsin Weather
Cloudy, scattered showers in the northeast; slightly warmer in extreme west portion tonight; Thursday partly cloudy; somewhat cooler in afternoon or night.

General Weather
Light showers and scattered thunderstorms have occurred over Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska and central Canada, due to low pressure over the province of Manitoba and extending southward over the plains states this morning. Temperatures are rising immediately in front of this disturbance but over the western states and over the eastern and southern portions of the country cool weather prevails. The indications are for showers in this section tonight, followed by fair and cooler Thursday.

Don't Label Children If They Flunk

BY ANGELO PATRI

It is not enough to say, "This child is unable to concentrate. He must pay attention or he will not pass." It is not enough to put the child in the slow group, or keep him back, or dismiss him from school because he cannot do school work. What is he to do?

We are not through with a child when we put a label on him. Nor—and this is threateningly important—is he through with us. He is going to live out the term of his life. He is going to stumble blindly through the years until society in self defense shuts him up for the longest possible time, a prisoner. The whole situation is so unfair.

The child who fails is unhappy. If he is an intelligent child, and many of them are, he suffers keenly. In his bewilderment he makes all kinds of defense gestures, covers himself in all sorts of ways. He lies, he cheats, he steals, he runs away, he gets into the strangest situations and all because society did not take care to protect him and itself at the right time.

It is not enough to say that a child is bad; that he is an embryo of crime. It is not enough to hunt him down and shut him in behind stone and steel as an enemy. Not until we have done all in our power financially, socially, every way, to understand what is making him go wrong and move heaven and earth to help him. When we fail and acknowledge our failures, we can at least have a free conscience.

You see there are many children who cannot profit by the school courses as they stand. They sit in the classrooms, the teachers do their best, but the day comes when they are admitted failures. What then? Have we all the powers of science, of money, of education, of knowledge, of understanding love to place at the disposal of the failing children? Have we done all we can to discover the cause of his failure, and then bent every effort to helping him, adjusting himself? In some cases, yes, in most of them, no. We have neither the equipment nor the understanding.

America has wonderful schools. In all the world there is none so good, so well equipped, so well manned. In all the world there are no more devoted teachers than ours. But we stop too soon. We do not do enough to salvage the failing children. If we did there would not be so many young boys and girls loose throughout the country waiting the catastrophe certain to fall upon them. I would have every child accounted for, every last one of them safe. So long as an adolescent child is in danger of going astray we have not done enough.

What I want is an extension of school supervision with authority and responsibility vested in educational experts and teachers. I want an opportunity for every child, quick and slow, good and bad, willing and unwilling. I want help for those who need help and I want it in whatever form the child may need it.

I am hoping that some day the educational authorities throughout the States will follow up the career of each child to the end which in this field is the attainment of self guidance and self support. It is not enough to lengthen the school term to lengthen the school day, to prolong school life. We must function education so that not a child shall be left helpless. It is easier than it seems. We have simply stopped too soon. Let us continue yet a little further and we can save countless lives to usefulness and happiness.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers of the care and development of children. Write him in

MISS MURPHY, RAYMOND OLM MARRY TODAY

The marriage of Miss Clara Murphy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Murphy, 1427 W. College-ave, and Raymond P. Olm, son of Mrs. William Olm, Appleton, took place at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning in the parsonage of St. Therese church. The Rev. M. A. Hauch performed the ceremony. Miss Ruth Murphy attended the bride, and Arthur Olm was best man. A 4 o'clock dinner will be served to the immediate families this evening. Mr. and Mrs. Olm will make their home at 714 N. Appleton-st. Out of town guests at the wedding were Mrs. Anna Buttman and Miss Freda Buttman, Oshkosh.

HELP PROVIDE FOR THE WOMEN AND GIRLS AS WELL AS THE MEN AND BOYS OF APPLETON

Seven Reasons Why the Financial Drive of the Appleton Woman's Club Should Be Supported:

- 1. Girl Scouts
There were 200 girl scouts enrolled last year, under Miss Dorothy Calnin, director, who was paid by the Womens Club. Headquarters for scoutwork is established at the club house.
- 2. Health Programs
During the April T. B. Clinic at the Womens Club 228 High School and Vocational School pupils were examined of which 401 were designated for various treatments, 19 were given O. T. Tests and 12 X-Ray. Tonsil operations were paid for. From Jan. 1st to May 1st 7839 bottles of milk were given to undernourished children making a total expenditure of $400.00 for the year. Two Baby Clinics were held.
- 3. Free Employment Agency
There were 532 women and girls registered for employment at the Club last year. 147 girls were placed permanently, 243 women were given part time work or by the day.
- 4. Recreation or Swimming 1598 women and children were given opportunity to have use of pool and instructions from October 22nd to June 10th.
- 5. Sponsor Summer Camp for Girls
Camp Onaway was conducted from June 25th to July 9th, 1931. There was an enrollment of 170 girls. Dorothy Calnin, Girl Scout Director in charge.
- 6. Office and Office Equipment
An office and office equipment is maintained for "The Home-finding Society of Wisconsin." for Appleton and Outagamie County. Our secretary gives very material aid in helping Miss Wallace, the social worker.
- 7. A Community Center
The club house is used by Business and Professional Women, The Appleton Girls Club, Monthly Meetings of county women, Delphian Society, J. Y. P. C. Club, Jewish Sunday School, Eagle Ladies Committee Meeting and social activities of various organizations and churches of the city and county.

The above brief list of our major activities indicates the type of work carried by the club.

The Story of Sue

by MARGERY HALE
© 1929 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE woman appeared in the door. Sue's hands dropped. She had not been able to give that last turn which she had hoped would make a panel slide back and reveal the secret drawer. Perhaps she had almost had her hand on the paper which she wanted. If she had, she was far away from it now.

The conversation wandered. Unless she wanted to buy the desk Sue had no reason at all for lingering. But she was going to get the will if there was a way in the world to do it, she had made up her mind. And a way opened as easily as any story writer could have invented one.

"Excuse me a minute, please," the woman said. "I'm making some jelly and it needs attention. You go right ahead and fool around that old desk all you want to. I'll be back in a few minutes."

This time Sue followed the same movements. She found the slide and drew it back. The drawer was in front of her. There was a sound of moving feet. She hesitated and waited. If the paper in the drawer was one of the group which Jack was hunting in the vest she was able to help him. And it was! She was sure of it. Hadn't the man to whom it belonged said that a lawyer had gone to California to search for a will which he himself had all the time?

Once again Sue had a sensation that she was being watched. She put her hands down quickly and glanced around. There was no one in sight. The door into the next room was partially closed but no one moved beyond it.

"I'm getting nervous," Sue told herself. "I'll have to get over it. I have enough things to face without losing my pulse."

Sue waited. The house was quiet. She had a sense of waiting. Expectant. Ready to come drifting into the room when she touched the secret spring.

"My conscience," she decided. "It doesn't know that I'm just doing my duty. I'll go ahead and open the drawer. After I find the will I can worry about getting it away. I have a right to examine the desk all the time."

She acted swiftly. The drawer opened. In it was a rather crumpled sheet of paper. Sue drew it out. It was a will!

With the paper in her possession she felt weak. Once again it seemed to her that eyes watched everywhere. Secretive, furtive eyes that knew so much more than they would admit. She pushed the paper into her pocket. The slide in the desk swung shut. She pretended that she was still interested in it when the woman returned.

"May I let you know a little later what I want to do about the desk?" Sue asked. She had a mad urge to get away at once, before somehow or other it was discovered that she had the valued paper.

Not until she was at home, with the door safely locked, did she open her pocketbook and pull out the paper. Even then she half expected a knock to sound at the door.

But her eyes grew wider as she read and her lips parted. Suddenly she put the paper aside.

"Oh, my land," she breathed. "This paper has nothing at all to do with Jack's case. Now how in the world can I get it back again?"

When two enemies meet at a bridge game, it is up to both of them to spare the hostess and the other guests any embarrassment because of their little private feud. If they are going to carry their warfare into every camp, they will soon be the most unpopular women in town—and deservedly so.

It is unfair to visit embarrassment on others because of our likes and dislikes. We must learn to control ourselves to the extent where we can be civil even to those we dislike. The incident which you have described shows an unselfish woman, ready to make a temporary peace for the sake of those about her—and a selfish woman determined not to make a single concession, even in the cause of courtesy. There can be no question as to who behaved the best—and I should think there was very little doubt as to who will be invited to play bridge again.

There Are Others

PRETTY BRUNETTE: Afraid there isn't anything you can do, the young hero hasn't shown signs of wanting to see you again. You can't very well seek him out, after all this time and announce flatly that you fell for him the first time you saw him. Either chance will bring you together again, or you must do something drastic about forgetting him. You won't find this difficult if you'll just remove from your mind the conviction that he's the only man in the world who could make you happy. There will be one or two others, and you'll find them, sooner than you think.

DOUBLE CHIN IS ELIMINATED BY MASSAGE

BY ALICIA HART

If you're "suffering" from a double chin, stop worrying and do something about it. There are a few exercises and treatments which are easy to do right at home and they are almost sure to rid you of the extra chin that is marring your beauty.

Double chins usually indicate over-weight. So if your scales show that you are carrying a few extra pounds, get busy with a proper diet and some exercises and lose the surplus. Give your chin a strenuous massage daily. Hold your fingers close together and, beginning well down your throat, vigorously pat upward under your chin. Do this twice a day for three minutes at a time.

Be sure that you stand and sit up straight with your chin and head well up and back. Do the following exercises every morning and night. Stand erect, lift your chin as high as possible and then slowly open and close your mouth fifteen or twenty times. Feel how the muscles under your chin tighten. Don't do it more than twice a day or you're apt to stretch the muscles instead of tightening them. Vigorous massaging also tends to stretch your muscles, so go rather than rub your chin and neck.

It's almost impossible to get a chin strap which will fit and yet be loose enough not to irritate the skin. Soak a piece of cotton in a strong astringent, place it up under your chin and tie it on with a towel or bandage which can be pinned or tied at the top of your head to hold the pad firmly in place.

Clean your face and neck each night with soap and water. Then apply your cleansing cream, wipe it off, and pat your skin with a strong astringent, being very generous with it under your chin. Now do the patting exercise on your chin and throat and finish your beauty treatment by tying the astringent-soaked cotton pad under your chin for twenty minutes.

MY NEIGHBOR SAYS —

Potato Pumpkins can be made by coloring mashed potatoes with orange fruit coloring and shaping into small pumpkins. Place upon greased baking sheet and bake 10 minutes in moderate oven. Tiny stems of green pepper can be inserted for "stems."

Always turn back two or three inches when making the heading for curtain. This allows for shrinkage when curtains are washed.

In serving a poached egg on toast, creamed chicken or fish, it is better to cut the toast in strips or tiny cubes and pile them around the egg or the creamed chicken. Toast becomes a soggy mass under the egg or creamed mixture.

COFFEE WITH IDEAL FLAVOR PRODUCED BY IMPROVED ROASTING

Patented Process Insures Perfect Roast for Every Pound of Hills Bros. Coffee

Roasting, as much as blend, is responsible for the fine flavor of coffee. In fact, ordinary bulk-roasting methods often fail to give the blend "a break." That's because bulk methods don't always insure an even roast. Hills Bros. invented and patented a process that overcomes this undesirable feature. It is called Controlled Roasting, for control is the principle of the process.

As the accuracy of the hour-glass depends upon an even, continuous flow... a little at a time... so a perfect roast is procured for Hills Bros. Coffee by this patented process that roasts evenly, continuously, a little at a time. The speed of the coffee through the roasters is controlled. These two things insure unvarying flavor—for the blend is never under-roasted nor over-roasted.

Remember that Hills Bros. Coffee can't go stale. It is packed in vacuum cans. Air, which destroys the flavor of coffee, is removed and kept out of these cans. Ordinary, "air-tight" cans won't keep coffee fresh. But Hills Bros. Coffee is always fresh. Order some today. Ask for it by name, and look for the Arab trade-mark on the can.

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

by Ely Culbertson
World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

OPTIMISM PLUS ACCURATE PLAY

The optimist makes a better Bridge player than the pessimist. Speaking generally, it is better to assume the best than the worst, for it is not often that the worst will happen. Applied to Bridge, this means that when you value your hand lacking definite warnings of the rocks of distribution, you should not conjure up in your mind every dire thing that might happen, but rather picture what can happen if the cards break well. Today's hand centers around the bidding of two rather cheery optimists, one of whom, however, had to season his optimism with accurate play in order to make the contract upon which they had embarked.

Both sides vulnerable. South Dealer.

The Bidding:
(The figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

South West North East
1♥ Pass 5♦ (1) Pass
6♦ (2) Pass Pass Pass

1—North's bid of five diamonds is based upon his partner's opening bid and the probability of 7 tricks in his hand. Either 6 diamond tricks and the cashing of the King of clubs, or if the King of clubs should not make a trick, the loss of no diamond tricks whatever. The distribution is such as to make it improbable that the diamond suit will break evenly around the table. To off-set this, however, is the chance of the King of clubs being worth a trick.

2—South's Raise to six diamonds is perhaps unduly optimistic. His lack of diamond support is no bar, but the three Aces are not fortified with other honors. However, South knows that the hand contains no losers in clubs in all.

3—When the partner of a player who has made a Takeout Double expects to defeat the double contract by an appreciable amount, he should pass for a penalty rather than make a Takeout bid. If partner has doubled a notrump bid, a penalty pass is justified when holding more than 2 honors distributed in the hand based on the Rule of Eight. If partner has doubled a suit bid, a penalty pass is not justified unless holding at least 4 sure trump tricks.

INSECTICIDE MAKER IS FOUND INSANE

Committed to Ward for Criminally Insane at Anamosa Reformatory

Adel, Iowa—(P)—John Smith, Perry insecticide manufacturer charged with conspiracy to defraud insurance companies, was declared insane by a district court jury Tuesday.

The jury debated only 10 minutes on testimony presented by Doctors Max Witte of Clarinda, and George Donohoe of Cherokee, superintendents of state hospitals in their respective cities.

Judge W. S. Cooper conducted the hearing. The two alienists were the only witnesses.

Smith was immediately ordered committed to the criminally insane ward at Anamosa reformatory until such time as he is legally declared sane.

Judge Cooper, in ordering Smith's commitment to Anamosa, said that if Smith is ever legally declared sane he will be returned to the Dallas county sheriff to stand trial on the charge or charges preferred against him.

Sheriff C. A. Kneen said Smith would be taken to Anamosa as soon as County Attorney George Sackett could make out the commitment papers, probably this afternoon.

Smith was in court during the hearing. He appeared to be in the same dazed condition he has shown since he was found near Garner last June, bound and gagged and unable to tell where he had been since disappearing Feb. 3, when his burning truck containing a charred body was found near Denison. Mrs. Smith was also in the court room.

As Smith was taken from the courthouse by Sheriff Kneen he slipped on the stairs, fell and fainted. Dr. S. T. Foster was called, and after examination, said Smith suffered no severe injury.

RESERVE ENGINEERS TO MEET HERE OCT. 23

DR. DENYES TELLS CLUB ABOUT INDIA

Lawrence Professor Describes Events Leading Up to Independence Drive

Menasha—Dr. J. R. Denyes, professor of religion at Lawrence college, was the principal speaker at a banquet meeting of Menasha and Chilton Kiwanis at Elk hall Tuesday evening. The banquet was staged for the Chilton club, which defeated the Menasha organization in an attendance contest extending over a period of six weeks. About 50 Kiwanians were in attendance. Denyes discussed the political situation in India, and outlined the events leading to the present campaign for independence. He also explained the differences in religion existing in India and the various races and types of inhabitants. Following the banquet and program, the Kiwanians were entertained at a theatre party as guests of Jack LeVos, a member of the Menasha group, and manager of the Brite theatre here.

NEED WRITTEN PERMITS TO GO TO LIBRARY

Neenah—School students hereafter will be required to secure a written permit to go to the public library to study, according to rules set down by the library board. This same order was in effect last year. Many young people, it was claimed, were using the library only as a meeting place. Teachers at school will furnish the permits when it is shown the pupil needs library assistance.

A branch of the library is to be established at McKinley school to accommodate people residing in the western part of the city. The branch, according to arrangements made by Miss Mae Hart, librarian, will be open each Thursday afternoon between 2:30 and 4:30 with a selection of about 175 books. Any book not in the selection can be secured from the main library by telephoning 15 not later than Thursday noon and it will be sent to the branch library in time.

TWIN CITY DEATHS

EDWARD FOXGROVER—Edward Foxgrover, 23, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Foxgrover, former Neenah residents, died Tuesday of pneumonia at a Milwaukee hospital, according to information received by his aunts, Mrs. Gus Larson and Mrs. John Hooper. The young man was born here and resided here most of his younger days. Surviving are three brothers, two sisters, Charles and Philip Foxgrover of Chicago; James Foxgrover of Kalamazoo, Mich.; Sister Camille of Milwaukee, and Mrs. Charles Maloney of Oshkosh.

A private funeral service will be held Thursday morning at Milwaukee, with burial at that city. James Foxgrover, of Kalamazoo, Mich., Sister Camille of Milwaukee, and Mrs. Charles Maloney of Oshkosh, will attend the services.

USE NEW GRIDIRON AT NEENAH ON SATURDAY

Neenah—The gridiron at the new athletic field will be used for the first time Saturday when the Kewanee high school football team comes here. The field was to have been used last Saturday for the St. Mary game, but wet conditions necessitated transferring the game to Menasha.

While this will be the first game, the field will not be dedicated until the end of the season when Menasha high school plays here. Kewanee is coming here with a fast team, the same team which held Kaukauna to a scoreless tie a week ago. The local gridirers had a good practice game last Saturday with St. Mary squad and with nightly practice during the present week will be in good condition for the initial game.

A special price of 15 cents has been offered all school children who purchase tickets at the high school before the game. The high school band will give a sort concert between the halves.

BOY BRIGADE LEADERS MEET WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Neenah—Twenty Boy Brigade group leaders will meet at 7 o'clock Wednesday evening at the Bridge building on S. Commercial-st. to outline the 1931-32 program. HOOVER PATH MADE EASIER BY COOLIDGE

Party Leaders Believe Cal Has Eliminated Self in 1932 Campaign

nomination against a president of his own party, probably have not stopped to consider fully what would be implied by such a course.

"It has been my purpose to refrain from doing or saying anything that could be construed as indicating an intention again to seek public office."

"In an emergency like the present the responsible elements of our party should offer a solid front in their support of the president. That is the course I propose to pursue."

Thus, the Republican leaders generally agree that any contest against Mr. Hoover's renomination has narrowed to one from the independent faction. This group is not now united behind any single candidate.

President Hoover himself maintained silence on the Coolidge statement although he was confronted with a batch of questions about it among the written inquiries of the newspaper correspondents at yesterday's press conference.

Senator Fess, the chairman, and Robert Lucas, executive director of the Republican national committee, accepted the article and promptly called for the renomination of the president.

"The announcement," Fess said, "has been evident to all thinking people who are acquainted with past history and who are familiar with the character and public attitude of Mr. Coolidge. His statement should quiet the manufactured clamor of the anti-administration element. It also assures the all but unanimous renomination of President Hoover and will be one of the determining factors of his re-election."

Mr. Lucas said: "Naturally we are pleased but we are not surprised. President Coolidge is a Republican. He knows President Hoover. He has confidence in him. The article can not fail to have great weight in shaping public sentiment."

Democrats also showed considerable interest in the Coolidge statement but the few who commented upon it took the view that the former president did not regard next year as a good time to run.

"Of course," said Senator Copeland, Democrat, New York, "he doesn't care to run again until 1936. He doesn't think this would be a good time to run when the full dinner pail slogan has gone into the waste basket."

Senator Gore, Democrat, Oklahoma, remarked that the statement "ran true to Coolidge's canny foresight."

CORONER'S INQUEST THURSDAY AFTERNOON

Neenah—The coroner's inquest into the death of Mrs. Hattie Arndt, Menasha, will be conducted at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon by Coroner Martin Potratz at Neenah city hall. Mrs. Arndt died while on the way to Theda Clark hospital a week ago, following an auto accident on Highway 125 while riding with Dennis Lewandowski of Menasha. The car left the road and struck a culvert, throwing it into a deep ditch. Lewandowski has been at Theda Clark hospital since. The jury composed of O. W. Smith, Edmund Lachmann, Clarence Hanson, George Terrio, Louis Woeckner and S. K. Sieber, earlier this week viewed the body and scene of the accident and adjourned to Thursday.

FRED MAYNE FACING NON-SUPPORT CHARGE

Neenah—Fred Mayne will appear Nov. 30 in municipal court to answer to a charge of non-support and deserting his family. He was arrested at Phoenix, Ariz., through the Winnebago-co sheriff's department and appeared in court Monday. Bail was fixed at $500 for his appearance in court. It is claimed he has not supported his wife and six children since Nov. 8, 1930.

FALL TENNIS TOURNAMENT PLANNED BY COACH

Neenah—A fall tennis tournament is being arranged by Coach Ivan Williams at the high school, for Saturday morning at the new athletic field courts. The warm weather of the past few days has brought out many tennis players. More than 25 players have entered.

FLOWERS SPROUT OUT OF FLOOR OF SECOND HAND AUTO

Madison—(P)—Stanley Smyths big sedan is an old second hand model purchased about a year ago but all is cheerful and flowery in the spacious back seat. Stanley's mother, Mrs. Bertha Smyth, stepped to the running board to get it. A small petaled flower, growing on a stem two inches high peeked up at her from the floor boards.

It had come to life right out of a cup of coffee to a man whom he did not recognize as a detective started a train of events here yesterday in which his own aspirations to success paled to insignificance in bloom.

If Stanley gets a heater on his car this winter he might have a green house in the back.

CONGRESSMAN PLANS INSPECTION BY AIR

Washington—(P)—Representative James of Michigan, will start an aerial inspection trip tomorrow which will bring to well above a month the time he has spent in the air. He expects the aerial tour of army airfields to bring to 800 hours flying time that he has spent on his numerous inspection trips.

For the past two years James has been chairman of the house military committee and for several years was chairman of the sub-committee handling army housing. Although he does not pilot a ship, he has taken an active interest in aviation, particularly in the development of adequate flying fields. After visiting all the fields in the east he will inspect those in the northern states to the Pacific coast and will return through the western and southern states.

Sleuths Help Youth Rejoin Parents After Seven Years

Milwaukee—(P)—After seven years of wandering in search of fame and fortune, Raymond Ravonet, 23, of Edgar, Wis., penniless and disillusioned, was to be reunited today with his parents, who believed him dead.

Raymond's appeal for the price of a cup of coffee to a man whom he did not recognize as a detective started a train of events here yesterday in which his own aspirations to success paled to insignificance in bloom.

With head bowed, he told a time-worn story of leaving home in search of wealth and glory and of persistent disappointments as he journeyed from state to state and job to job.

Acting Captain of Detectives Frank Prohaska was about to release the youth with a bit of fatherly advice when he decided to take a parting shot.

"What does your mother think of your running around like this?" he asked.

Raymond gulped. He wasn't sure what his mother would think since he had not heard from or communicated with his parents in the seven years' absence. He vowed when he ran away never to visit or write them until he had achieved success.

The detective chief, who has children of his own, decided then that it was an opportune time to inform Raymond's parents he was alive and well. He telephoned the Marathon-co sheriff.

Within a short while the sheriff called back. He said Raymond's father was speechless. When he heard the good news and the youth's mother, bedridden for nearly two years, arose at once to start preparations to greet her son.

Lyons, France—Edouard Harriot, mayor of Lyons and formerly premier, is listed in the city directory as a tailor and a wine merchant although he personally never pressed a pair of pants or sold a litre of vin rouge. Charitable enterprises were put in his name because the city was forbidden to engage in business.

LOWER LIGHT RATES DUE IN NEW LONDON

New Schedule Expected to Go Into Effect Within Next Two Months

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—Speaking before the Lions club Tuesday evening at Elwood hotel, L. M. Wright, city treasurer, explained the change in rates in city lights which will go into effect within the next two months. Mr. Wright, with Mayor E. W. Wendlandt, and Ray Thomas, superintendent of the city light and power plant, returned Tuesday evening from Madison where they were in conference with the state commission.

While no definite list of rates has been compiled and with the final approval of the council and signature of the commission still to be appended, it is quite certain that a material reduction in rates for users of electric light current will be effected. This reduction would decrease the city's revenue from the power plant appreciably, it being estimated that the city's revenue from the plant would be approximately $15,000 less than that of last year, Mr. Wright said.

The commission presented a choice of rating plans, pointing out one which, if accepted, would be the first in effect in the state. This suggests a fixed rate of 50 cents per month for all users. Instead of the minimum $1 per month rate which is used at the present time. An additional kilowatt charge for all power used in addition to this amount would be charged. Mr. Wright pointed out that nothing was definitely settled, but that the commission would communicate with city officials during the present week and that the matter would be subject to action by the council at the next meeting.

FARMERS FIND PASTURES ARE HURT BY DROUGHT

Some Are Sowing Timothy Seed to Thicken Present Stand

Fremont—Before plowing meadow land this fall, many Fremont farmers are carefully examining their pastures as well as new seedlings for drought damage. This year's drought has caused a great deal of damage to pastures generally, farmers report, and they will need old meadows again next year to help out on the pasture situation. Some spring seedlings have been damaged to the extent that they will fail to supply the expected hay and pasture next year.

To provide more pasturage, several farmers are sowing timothy seed now to thicken up present meadows and pastures. Those who are in need of new pasturage are sowing rye this fall for early pasture next spring which will make enough growth to supply from four to six weeks pasture for one or more months. After the rye pasture has been used up, some farmers will plow the ground and seed it to sudan grass for later pasture.

Several farmers in this district have been cutting matured heads of cabbage before the bursting stage, saving a part of their crop that would otherwise be lost. Early cabbage has brought better prices than the late harvest.

The early cabbage crop in general is only a small fraction of a normal crop, and late cabbage is about 25 per cent normal, due to the drought.

The corn crop in the towns of Fremont, Wolf River, and Caledonia is about 50 per cent normal this year, according to reports from farmers in this district. Corn has been good on the low lands despite the drought.

Repairing of several sections of the narrow concrete pavement on county Highway D has been completed. In places where the concrete was broken up, leaving holes or rough sections, it was removed entirely and new section, 10 feet long were laid. The highway was only partially obstructed during the repairs.

The monthly meeting of the chamber of commerce was held in the village hall Monday evening. It was agreed the following places of business, beginning Oct. 1, will not be open on Tuesday and Thursday evenings after 6 p. m.: Wolfriver Cooperative store, William Bauer and sons, J. M. HOO! HERE ARE BOOTS AND DUS-SPENCE AGAIN.

SHHH

I THINK HE'S CUTE.

YES! "CUTE" IS JUST THE WORD.

STEPHEN, NOW YOU MUSTN'T TEASE BOOTS! SHE'S DREADFULLY SENSITIVE ABOUT HIM.

WHY? IT ISN'T HER FAULT IF HE FOLLOWS HER HOME EVERY DAY.

IT'S A SCREAM, AND YET IT'S PATHETIC AND QUITE TRAGIC, TOO. I'LL NEVER FORGET MY FIRST LOVE AFFAIR... AND HOW SERIOUSLY I TOOK IT!

AM YES! WHY I RAN AWAY... FOR HALF A DAY AND THREATENED TO DO ALL SORTS OF THINGS... POOR SPENCE! HOW I PITY HIM!! NO INDEED! I DON'T THINK ONE SHOULD EVER RIDICULE PUPPY LOVE.

WASH TUBBS

FOR A WEEK AFTER WASH MEETS THE FAIR DAUGHTER OF THE PRESIDENT, RAILROAD SERVICE IS ALMOST AT A STANDSTILL.

THE BOY ROMEO IS HAVING FAR TOO GOOD A TIME TO BE BOTHERED WITH BUSINESS.

NO TRAIN TODAY, GOTTA DATE.

THE SUDDEN THOUGHT SHOOK HIM FROM HIS COMPOSURE. IF SAM WAS BEAUTIFUL, WHAT WAS SHE DOING DANCING WITH THAT OAF, MARKHAM? THE THING WAS PREPOSTEROUS. IT MUST BE STOPPED. PEAK MOVED ACROSS THE CROWDED ROOM.

All at once she was in his arms, and was looking up at him, smiling. He tried to speak but the words tangled themselves hopelessly before they reached his lips.

He found himself being led across the polished floor and down a long hall to the garden door. In a moment the door was closed behind them and the Wayne Holcomb's party had vanished completely in a tremendous gust of wind.

The moon had been blotted out by a heavy bank of cloud and as a result the darkness seemed more profound than that of an ordinary night.

The wind was very strong. It rushed at Peak and buffeted him. It tore at his hair and at his half closed eyelids.

Sam looked up at him, laughed, and reached out her hand. Before he was fully aware of what was happening he found himself running in her stride, her hand in his, across the grass.

The spring turf was treacherous; soft and squishy under foot in places and hard as flint in others. In the end, however, the bulk of the summer house loomed darkly. With his free hand Peak wrenched at the glass door. In another instant they were across the threshold and there was peace.

Sam moved across to the black square that marked the window looking over the valley. Peak followed, and as he reached her side the clouds vanished from the face of the moon and there was light.

The abruptness of the thing made them blink. The whole of the little valley was in view, a panorama in black and white. It was an orderly, neatly trimmed, sophisticated little valley, but it was no less pleasing because of that.

"Beautiful," Sam murmured the word, watching. "It's beautiful, Peak," she repeated swiftly, "and I'm happy."

Peak looked at her and tried to speak. He half turned away and then suddenly, something stronger than himself took possession. A swift, savage sweep of his arm brought Sam close to him. He was holding her tightly in a rough embrace. He was kissing her mouth.

That kiss was in no way the tentative, hesitant caress of a doubtful lover. It was fierce, possessive, compelling, elemental. It marked the breaking of a dam against which the rising waters had been beating for weeks and months.

It was only when Sam at last turned her face away that the roaring in Peak's brain gradually began to subside.

He held her all the more tightly. "Sam," he whispered. "Sam!" Don't go away. Kiss me again!"

Chapter 24

FLOOD TIDE AND EBB

ON the Thursday night of the first week of April the Wayne Holcombs gave a party. It was a cold, blustery night. The calendar called for a moon and a moon there was, but it was a pale, chill moon riding high in a tumultuous sea of scurrying clouds. The wind blew fiercely across the Holcombs' deserted gardens and hurried itself upon the brightly lighted windows of the house.

In the Holcombs' cleared living room there was warmth and light. The floor was crowded with dancing couples. A fire was burning brightly in the huge fireplace and near it stood Peak Abbott.

He was engaged in the profitable pastime of observing Sam Sherrill without being observed. Sam was dancing with Tod Markham, a tall rapid individual.

Sam's dress was blue; a vivid kind of blue. Peak could not name the shade. He only knew that its vividness enhanced rather than dimmed the whiteness of her shoulders, the blackness of her hair. He realized all at once that Sam was beautiful.

The sudden thought shook him from his composure. If Sam was beautiful, what was she doing dancing with that oaf, Markham? The thing was preposterous. It must be stopped. Peak moved across the crowded room.

All at once she was in his arms, and was looking up at him, smiling. He tried to speak but the words tangled themselves hopelessly before they reached his lips.

Sam had not noticed his difficulties. "Let's get out of here for a minute," she said. "I want a breath of air."

Athletics Confident As They Move On St. Louis For Opener

WANT TO WIN 3 SERIES FOR CONNIE MACK

Expect Waite Hoyt Will Be Named to Pitch the First Game

BY EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer
Aboard the Special Train of the World Champion Athletics, bound for St. Louis—(P)—Champions of the baseball universe—and well aware of it—the Philadelphia Athletics rolled westward today seeking something no other club in the history of the game has ever attained—three straight world series conquests.

As calmly as a big university eleven faces the first shivering opponent of a football season, Connie Mack's champions for the past two years sped on toward St. Louis and the first game with the Cardinals, flag-bearers of the National league. If St. Louis team was confident—insolently so—it is the Athletics.

For instance there's big Al Simmons, greatest hitter of the day, the fellow the pitchers of both major leagues say has no batting weakness, sitting on top of a Pullman seat, his eyes closed, his head thrown back, a ravishing voice leading a half dozen of his mates in song. At the other end of the car, Larry Grove, the loneconqueror, strives desperately to fill an inside straight, the big black "seeger" that is his favorite companion, sticking up at an angle that threatens to burn a hole in the brim of his soft hat.

Foxe Tries Bridge
There's Jimmy Foxe, the power horse to sit around first base, adding the drowsiness, wailing as a finesse goes wrong. Off in a corner, Joe Boley, shortstop of two world champion machines, ousted now by a youngster, Dab Williams, silently nurses an injured leg. If there was any question of Boley's warming the bench up to now it was ended by a line drive in the final practice at Philadelphia Tuesday when a slam from Bing Miller had crumpled a shin already ailing from a "charley horse."

Waite Hoyt, the fashion plate, hurrying hero of world series were riding the New York Yankees were riding the high waves, tries on all the good looking hats in the car, gets into an argument with "Big Jarge" Earnshaw the right handed ace, and he musses the pitcher's carefully oiled hair. It is the Cardinals, that if Connie Mack will start him, the Cardinals will gather no more than five hits. There is more than a little sentiment aboard that Waite may be the fellow to open the series in Sportsman's park Thursday.

Bishop Had Great Year
Sleek, blonde Max Bishop, his shoulder entirely healed, browes through a magazine. The greatest year of his second base career is just behind him. He'll match his keenness of eye for balls and strikes with any lead-off man in the history of the game. The players around him proudly boast that he studies the game so carefully, can judge a pitched ball so expertly that he even knows what umpires insist that half the ball, rather than just a quarter, is on the edge of the plate before calling a strike. If getting on base counted in the batting averages, Bishop would have hit close to 500 this past season.

Jimmy Dykes and Bing Miller play solitaire and argue. Rube Walberg chuckles over a crossword puzzle.

"Hey," he yells, "what's a three letter word for sea eagle?"

No one laughs roll up from a group clustered around the club jester, and Mickey Cochrane, perhaps the greatest of modern catchers, is leading the cheers. "Poppey" MacHaffey, "Rabbit" McNair, Roger Cramer, youngsters and first line substitutes are in the group. Mule Haas, enviable possessor of the loudest "razzberry" in the American league, mulls one.

Off in a compartment with his family, the 63-year-old Connie Mack, heading hopefully toward his eighth world series and the final crown of his baseball life—three straight world champions—avoids all talk of baseball. He will not predict, he will not discuss. For him the series will be played in St. Louis and Philadelphia not the Pullmans eating up the miles between.

Everywhere is the spirit of absolute ease and confidence—this is just another set of ball games. They talk baseball only when pressed. For them the series can have but one ending. No one can beat them, last of all a team they conquered in six games last fall.

The Athletics believe, when asked point blank, that "that spitballer" Burleigh Grimes will face them in the first game.

"Maybe he hasn't been going so good," says one, "but neither was George Farnshaw before the last world series and look what he did."

"But what difference does it make?" they chorus. "Send anyone in there. We'll beat them. We're winning number three for Connie. Try and stop us."

DES MOINES WINNER OF WESTERN TITLE

Des Moines—(P)—Des Moines today held the Western league baseball championship for 1931, having defeated the Wichita aviators in four of six games in the playoff series here.

The Demons clinched the title with a 5 to 4 victory over the Athletics last night. Bill Terry, Athletics' pitcher, allowed five runs in the last of the six games, leaving the Demons' pitcher, Claude, in a position to win the game.

There was nothing sensational about the Pike efforts. Faas being the high scorer with 136-169-165-470.

STREET CHANGES LINEUP BECAUSE OF MANY INJURIES

Expects to Start Derringer With Hallahan for Friday's Battle

BY CHARLES DUNKLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
Stability of a crippled lineup, the Cardinals breezed through their final batting and fielding drill today preparatory to opening world series warfare tomorrow against their 1930 conquerors, the champion Athletics.

That was the situation as the Athletics sped westward from Philadelphia to defend their title and Gabby Street, manager of the Cardinals, champions of the national league, was giving consideration to a last minute change in his lineup with a view of replacing Earl "Sparky" Adams at third base. Adams, one of the sparkling cogs of the Cardinal machine, injured his left ankle ten days ago. It still is swollen, painful and bandaged, with the result that Street may decide to keep him out of the first two conflicts.

If Adams is unable to start in the opening game tomorrow, Manager Street intends to inject Andy High into the third base position with the batting order remaining the same.

Coming on top of the shoulder injury that threw Jess Haines, one of the Cardinals' pitching aces out of the series, the injury to Adams was a crushing blow to the house of the Cardinals, although High is regarded as a capable substitute. He is one of the few of the Cardinals who batted consistently in the 928 world series, lost to the Yankees, and has proved his ability in emergency roles in the past.

In addition to the loss of Pitcher Haines and the possibility that Adams may be forced to the bench, the Cardinals suffered a third major casualty in the injury of John "Pepper" Martin, nursing a damaged knee. Martin, however, undoubtedly will get into the game despite his injury, but Manager Street has several other combinations available if Martin is unable for duty in center field.

With the Athletics ruling as 7 to 5 favorites, the Cardinals nevertheless are determined to triumph in spite of the jinx pursuing them. Manager Street says his club is well equipped in reserves, and with capable players available to fill any gap that accidents may create, the Cardinals will take the field with confidence against their American league rivals. Street declares that several times during the season while the Cardinals were fighting for the championship he was several times forced to call on reserves because of injuries or illness to regulars and that the reserves came through with colors flying.

There is a dramatic possibility that Paul Derringer, 25-year-old pitching rookie playing his first year with the Cardinals, may pitch his teammates to victory in the initial combat tomorrow as it is considered reasonably certain today that he will be selected to oppose Robert Moses Grove, pitching ace of the Athletics and greatest hurler of modern time. Derringer, possessing rare courage and pitching ability, is eager for the assignment and Manager Street intends to give it to him, saying "Wally" Hallahan to face the Athletics today.

Connie Mack, manager of the Athletics, has declared he will start Bill Williams at short stop in place of Joe Judge, thus making

WILDCATS BELIEVE THEY HAVE ANOTHER BIG TEN CHAMPION

Team Gets Exceptionally Hard Test from Nebraska Saturday

BY PAUL MICKELSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
HICAGO—(P)—Two weeks of hard drill in the Big Ten football camps today appeared to serve the same championship prospects—a strictly three-team fight between Michigan, Northwestern and Purdue for the title.

When the Big Ten war camps were thrown open for practice two weeks ago, it was generally agreed that the championship rested among those three teams. Today, with the big football battles just around the corner, it appeared more certain than ever.

Everything in a football way seems to be breaking nicely at those three camps except for a few minor injuries here and there, while the coaches at Ohio State, Chicago, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Indiana, and Iowa are deeply engrossed in problems of replacements and fundamentals.

Wildcats Look Good
Coach Dick Hanley of Northwestern happily confessed that his big band of Wildcats looked better than ever although they faced two exceptionally hard non-conference battles on the next two successive Saturdays in Nebraska and Notre Dame, respectively. All his regulars have been playing even better football than a year ago when they tied Michigan for the title while some of his sophomore candidates have been improving in rapid and sensational style. He had replacements in profusion and "Pug" Rentner, his great passing halfback, appeared to be a far greater player than Coach Hanley expected.

"The team that beats Northwestern this year will be some football club," remarked a veteran observer as he watched the Wildcats amaze yesterday, "and that goes for Nebraska and Notre Dame. Why, these fellows appear to have everything—punch and a great defense."

The same situation prevailed at Michigan and Purdue where the regulars have been impressive.

Wolves Impress
During a 35 to 0 romp over the reserves last Saturday, Michigan's varsity flashed one of the most powerful running attacks ever witnessed by local observers. Captain Roy Hudson has been showing greater ability than ever as a broken field runner while his passing has been exceptionally brilliant. Coach Harry Kipke had only one real big worry and that was blocking.

Purdue, with its veteran backfield of Davis, Turner and White, back in the fold also has been throwing some great practice drills. Risk, especially, has pleased Coach Noble Kizer. He was injured during the Chicago game last year but the blow failed to crimp his ground gaining style.

Leonard Is Told To "Go Get A Rep"
Former Lightweight King Denied Garden Bout With Paulie Walker

New York—(P)—In effect, it seems, the New York state athletic commission has told Benny Leonard, one of the greatest fighters in boxing history, to go out and get himself a reputation.

The commission declined to sanction a bout between the retired undefeated lightweight champion and Paulie Walker, hard-hitting young middleweight from Trenton, N. J., and informed Leonard that he would have to prove his ability in the smaller fight clubs before appearing again in Madison Square Garden. The garden had booked the Leonard-Walker battle for Oct. 16 with every indication of a sell-out.

The lead in barring Leonard from the walker bout was taken by 37-year-old William Muldoon, famed "sold man," who maintained that Leonard's seven-year absence from the ring justified the commission's action. He was backed up vigorously by the commission chairman, James A. Farley.

No hint of such action came a week ago when Leonard applied for and was granted his boxing license. It was that which ranked the former king of the lightweights.

COTTER BEATS THOMPSON IN THREE ROUNDS

Herbie Forces Fighting but Kaw Veteran Registers Hardest Blows

FOUR knockouts in six bouts were the highlight of the first amateur fight card of the current season, staged last night at the armory under auspices of Oney Johnston post of the American Legion. A fair sized crowd greeted the boys, saw two youngsters bite the dust before the first round was over and saw four good bouts in the other fights.

Herbie Thompson lost the decision to Harold Cotter in the windup much to the disappointment of many New London fans who thought the youngster deserved at least a draw on the strength of his aggressiveness, and the fact he carried the fight to Cotter. However, the judges apparently counted the heavy blows and the damage done and gave the nod to Cotter.

In the first frame Herbie's knees sagged under a wicked right to the jaw as before the New London boy got to his feet. Cotter started another blow which Herbie's Freddie Andrews stopped until Herbie got up.

The first round was Cotter's. The second saw the boys mix freely with Herbie always going to Cotter who stood flat footed and waited for his opponent to come in. Herbie was battered around the head, took some of the blows while moving away and scored several hard blows to Cotter's head and section. From a fine technical standpoint the round might have been even if Herbie had been given credit for aggressiveness.

Cotter Tired in Third
Cotter was tired in the third round and Herbie got to him often enough taking blows to the head for his troubles. Body blows again scored heaviest for Thompson while Cotter continued to use Herbie's legs for a target. Most of the fans were satisfied with the decision but the New London folks were disappointed and perhaps rightly. Had the bout gone a fourth round Thompson probably would have won for Cotter was pretty much all in and his blows lacked steam.

The semi-windup brought together Lyle Drake of Waupaca and Henry Rasmussen of Appleton, and as many a swiftness as fans have ever seen. The Drake boys' readiness to mix and the hand they showed Rasmussen even when he lost by a technical K. O. in the third, indicate they want to see him again.

Drake set "Raz" on his heels as the fight opened but the latter shook off the blow and came back to mix with Drake in big league style. The crowd soon warmed up to the two boys and applauded them generously. The first was about even.

The Waupaca youth forced the fighting in the second round as Rasmussen seemed to slow down. Drake cuffed his opponent freely enough although Rasmussen scored for himself every so often. Drake had the edge, however.

In the third round Rasmussen started after Drake and was battering him from pillar to post with Drake almost out on his feet. All of a sudden Drake uncorked a swing that caught Rasmussen in the stomach and he shuffled over against the ropes and with his head in his hands made no apparent effort to protect himself as Drake hammered him about the body. Referee Andrews stepped in and gave Drake a technical knockout. The time was 1:10.

Weyenberg K. O'ed
Frankie Weyenberg of Appleton, had his fight with Al Walter, Green Bay, won when, one minute and 54 seconds after the third round opened, he let down his guard and was clipped on the chin and counted out. Carelessness cost him the bout.

The first round was about even with both boys giving beautiful examples of how blows can be missed. In the second Weyenberg, with a boxer's reach, battered Walter about the head, lifted him with a couple of upper cuts and soon had a big edge. He was leading by a goodly margin in the third frame, too, when Walter connected with a short right to the button and the fight was over.

Art West, Appleton, was in better condition than Leo Hirschman, Denmark, and copped a three round decision in another of the interesting bouts of the evening. The boys have met about seven times.

There wasn't much choice in the opening round, West going about his job cautiously and Hirschman forcing the fight and battering West about the head. West's best efforts were a couple stinging blows to the body.

In the second round condition began to tell and as Hirschman slowed up West pounded him hard and at least three times appeared to have hurt the Denmark youngster. Hirschman would cover up every time and frustrate West's efforts to put him away. West was missing many wild swings.

Two Quick Knockouts
In the third West stalked his man around the ring and whenever he caught him in a corner or against the ropes punched him hard with rights and lefts to the head and jaw. Hirschman occasionally made a return but the blows were weak and lacked the steam.

The two opening fights were one round knockouts. Billy Schuller of Comand Locks was too fast and hard a boy for Howie Robinson, Oshkosh, and Howie took the count 42 seconds after the fight opened for Robinson a blow of 1500 around the head and neck.

Clay Sanders, Appleton, featured in the main attraction and he finished Clarence Berry, Oshkosh, in

Chaff 'n Chatter

By Gordon R. McIntyre

THAT Appleton high school football team made a prize liar out of us Saturday—but we like it folks, we like it.

Throughout last week we said the Orange line didn't look so hot, we hinted the team was doomed for a poor season and all this and that. And we meant every word of it and had no intention of pulling any bear stories.

Then Saturday the Orange went out and came from behind to beat East Green Bay, 13 and 12. So we suppose that in a day or so Packey McFarland of Manitowish, who starts tearing up dictionaries every time he sees the word Appleton or hears Coach Shields' name mentioned will say the St. Joseph and "young trout" connived to paint all the black spots and will politely call us a couple crooks.

But as 'twas said, we like it folks, especially if the Orange are the chaps who show us up. If they continue to spring the unexpected, we'll take all the pinnings we get.

'Tis Monday morning early and the Sports Editor is stewing around with a pile of football information, baseball games, fights and what not. The telephone rings and a fair voice asks:

"Can you tell me who Southern California played Saturday and who won?"

And then begins a search through some of the information on the desk to find out about U. S. C. In a second or two the story is found and, began the Sports Editor:

"The University of Southern California football team was defeated—"

"Not by St. Mary's," the fair voice cuts in.

"Yes, the score was 13 and 7," says the S. E.

"Well, I'm ashamed of my Alma Mater," said the P. V. and after a

LITTLE CHUTE COPS FROM SHAWANO "11"

Bobby Versteegen Is Sensation; Play at Clintonville Sunday

The Shawano Indians were beaten Sunday in the opening engagement of the Northwestern State football league by the Flying Dutchmen of Little Chute, the score being 13 to 6.

The Dutchmen got their first touchdown after a series of off-tackle plays had taken the ball on consecutive first downs from near the middle of the field. The Indians scored on a pass into the end zone. Little Chute crossed the goal line for the second time in the first part of the final period after getting possession of the ball on Shawano's ten yard line when Schweets picked up a bad pass from center on fourth down and was thrown for a loss.

With a few exceptions, the Shawano team played mediocre ball, and seemed unable to cope with the dazzling play of Bobby Versteegen, diminutive Little Chute back. The Dutch flash dodged and twisted his way time and again through the whole Shawano team.

The team will play the strong Clintonville team at Clintonville Sunday afternoon. The lineup for the game Sunday will be: Chris Wildenberg, Henry Ver Haven, J. Pennington, J. Rohm, guards; Joseph Wildenberg, William Glushko and Victor Hartley, tackles; S. Johnson, center; Scheurle, Schuler and R. Vilis, ends; Robert Versteegen, quarterback; Gerald Versteegen and Lloyd Dorus, halfbacks; Willard Van Handle and Jack Verbeeten, fullbacks. It is expected a large number of fans will accompany the team to Clintonville.

Madison—(P)—The freshmen took a crack at the Badgers in a long scrimmage session yesterday afternoon on the defensive, caused the veterans a bit of annoyance.

The varsity showed streaks of power at times and then again found difficulty in taking out the yearlings. The scrimmage showed that the Badgers still lack punch in blocking even though that department of their game has improved.

John Mueller, Neenah fullback, drove through the line for several long plunges, however, and Rex Rehbock, Portage halfback, stepped off several scintillating broken field runs.

Ward Stout, Milwaukee, opened up some wild holes in the yearling line at tackle and is running neck and neck with Don Cuthbert, Barron, for the post. Greg Kabat, Milwaukee, handled tackle on the other side of the line.

Mark Catlin, Appleton, and George Turner, Milwaukee were back at ends but Ken Kruger, Madison, veteran center, remained displaced by Doug Simmons of Kew Gardens, N. Y. Jim Wimmer of Wisconsin Delta played quarter and Bobby Schiller, Milwaukee, was at halfback.

At least two more strenuous scrimmages were on the Badger's program this week before the season's opener—a double header Saturday with the North Dakota Aggies and Bradley Institute.

PACKERS ERECTING 2,000 MORE SEATS FOR SUNDAY'S GAME

Three More Turnstiles Are Ordered; Start Cutting Down Squad

GREEN BAY—There will be room for approximately two thousand more spectators at the City stadium next Sunday when the Packers meet the New York Giants in the pennant raising game as a big crew of men under the direction of Marcel Lambeau, superintendent of construction for the Green Bay Football corporation, is at work building two new sections of the big stands on the south side of the field.

Bleacher reserved sections U and T have been taken down and permanent stands, 23 rows in height, are being set up. In section U there will be 19 seats to the row while section T has 28 seats to the line.

Bleachers Moved Over
The bleachers, which were used for U and T last Sunday have been moved over to replace section Q at

FOUR MEN RELEASED
Four players were released by the Green Bay Packers Tuesday. It was announced by Coach E. L. Lambeau. The squad must be cut to 22 men to conform with National league rules after the third league game. Players released were Dave Zuidmuller, former East high star, a halfback, Chester Johnston, Appleton, fullback; Wayne Davenport, Texas, halfback and Ray Janissen, South Dakota, tackle.

However Zuidmuller will retain his connections with the Packers. He will be used as a scout and is to direct the play of the "enemy" team in practice for games with teams in which he looked over.

the south west end of the field. The new arrangement is listed on the chart as sections Q and N with a seating capacity of 900 while the old section Q only housed 750 spectators.

As soon as the new permanent big stands are completed, work will be started on two more sections at the east and west end of the south side of the field line with the big stands. These additional blocks of seats will be patterned after sections O and P which are now located on the north at each end of the big stands. Each of these sections will have approximately 11 rows with about 38 seats to the row. These will mean about 1,000 more seats.

Three More Turnstiles
A rush order has been sent to Chicago for three more turnstiles and the "clickers" are scheduled to arrive Thursday noon. They will be immediately placed in position and the football executives feel confident that these additional entrances, nine in all, including the park employes and pass gate, will eliminate confusion such as was experienced before the opening whistle last Sunday.

Runways to the turnstiles will be extended outside the park about 5 yards and a much larger force of police will be on hand to line the spectators up for the runways. One of the ticket booths will be moved further north outside of the park and a turnstile gate will be cut in near by to speed handling of the crowd.

Sports Question Box
Q.—Where did Harvey Tarmen, the new Penn coach play football and who coached him?
A.—Harman played for the University of Pittsburgh and was coached by Glenn Warner.

"PEACE DAY" FOR BELFAST

Belfast, Ireland, has decided to turn Armistice Day into "Peace Day." The decision was made by the Belfast Educational Committee in response to a growing public demand for an annual day on which peace would be extolled, especially in the public elementary schools. Programs given on the anniversary of the end of the World war will consist of prayers for peace instead of reminders of war.

RAILS STRONG WITH COMING RATE DECISION

Market, as Whole However, Is Erratic With Some Gains and Losses

BY CLAUDE A. JACGER
Associated Press Financial Editor
New York.—(AP)—Intervals of strength in the railroad shares, coincident with the closing of arguments on the plea for higher freight rates, marked an erratic session of the stock market today.

The market pushed up briskly for a time in the morning, but was later unsettled by selling in the industrial and utilities. The railroad issues, however, were able to hold most of their morning rise. A better tone in bonds, and a firm closing of the London and Paris markets, ended the day.

Advances of 2 to 3 points or so were registered in New York Central, Pennsylvania, Santa Fe, Union Pacific, Baltimore and Ohio, Southern Railway and others. Industrials and utilities sagging a point or two to new lows included North American, American Water Works, Columbia Gas, American Tobacco B. Sears Roebuck, Bethlehem Steel, Procter and Gamble, General Foods and others. U. S. Steel dipped below 72 to a new low, then rallied. American C. R. ranged a point or two higher.

Trading was in large volume in the first hour, but subsided thereafter. Vague rumors in brokerage circles as to what the interstate commerce commission may decide in the matter of freight rates were branded as mere guesswork in well-informed quarters in Wall Street, but there was a decided effort to take a hopeful view of the prospect of relief for the railroad, now that arguments have been completed, and a decision is expected within a few weeks.

Disagree on Figures
The weekly iron and steel trade reviews were in disagreement as to the rate of output. "Iron Age" placed ingot output at 31 per cent of capacity, against 29 a week earlier, while "Steel" said that output had fallen to 29 per cent from 32 a week ago. Construction projects continue to bolster this basic industry, while other lines lag. Buying of railroad rails, which normally adds about 500,000 tons of output, has been cut by the two leading producers at this time of year, has been very slow, although the Chesapeake and Ohio has recently placed an order for 45,000 tons. The report of the movement of revenue freight for the week ended Sept. 19 showed a gain of nearly 75,000 cars from the preceding holiday week, but this was substantially less than the normal seasonal upturn.

Uneasiness over the European financial situation seemed to have subsided somewhat. One leading banker, who discussed the outlook informally, said that the Franco-German rapprochement, and the beginnings of outflow of gold from this country, were distinctly encouraging. He saw little real change in the domestic situation at this time, however.

Wall Street interest in short selling was greatly stimulated by the announcement of one of the older stock exchange firms that it would no longer permit customers stock to be loaned for the purpose of making short sales, without specific information in each case. At any rate, professional short selling is said in brokerage circles to have been effectively checked for the moment by the strict surveillance of exchange officials.

The silver market was again reactionary, that metal losing 1/2 of a cent an ounce. Traders were interested in Simon Guggenheim's prediction that the price of silver would rise, but in want of tangible developments, were disinclined to the buying side.

WALL STREET BRIEFS
New York.—The Iron Age composite price for heavy steel scrap has dropped from $9.17 to $9 a gross ton. This is the lowest level in the century, reached only once before—in mid-November 1914. The composite prices for pig iron and finished steel are unchanged at $15.42 a ton and 2.11 cents a pound, respectively.

The New York Stock exchange has received notice that interest due Oct. 1 on Chicago & Alton railroad certificates of deposit for refunding mortgage 3 per cent gold bonds, due 1949, will be paid.

Howard H. Cook, for some time assistant secretary, has been elected secretary of the American Iron and Steel Institute.

U. S. Pipe & Foundry Co., has been awarded a contract for 32,000 tons of 36-inch pipe by Lincoln, Neb.

Newspaper advertising will open open more doors to prospects, than will any other method of advertising, a statement was made today by Howard Dexter, sales manager of the Petroleum Heat & Power Co., manufacturers of oil burners, said. He pointed out that instead of cutting down its advertising appropriation when the country was overtaken by the business slump, the company increased its newspaper advertising, with the result that sales have mounted steadily, with this year's business showing an increase of 103 per cent over last year.

HOG PRICES TOUCH LOW FOR 23 YEARS

Today's Quotations, However, Are Steady Compared With Monday

Chicago.—(AP)—Checking the downturn in hog values early sellers were not able to recoup any of the recent loss but held price levels firm on a run of 22,000. The week's supply to date is considerably larger than last week, but lowest prices in 23 years have broadened the buying movement somewhat. Current prices are $4.40 lower than those paid at the close of September last year.

Chicago received 4,000 hogs on through consignment and 8,000 stage hogs were available. Shippers bought sparingly, best 220 to 270 lb. butchers being taken at $5.45-$5.50. Packing hogs were strong at the outset. Buyers displayed little interest in the normal run of 10,000 matured hogs and 2,000 calves. The make-up of the supply was uninteresting, and prices ruled barely steady. Only half a dozen cars were billed straight to packers.

The entire run of 28,000 sheep and lambs was on sale in the open market, extending last Wednesday's estimate of 10,000 and the advance estimate for today, by 12,000 head. In respect of offerings constituted the only activity during the first hours, and lower prices were offered.

WHEAT GAINS AFTER FALLING FOR FIVE DAYS
Upturns in Values Parallels Movement on Wall Street Market
BY JOHN P. BOUGHAN
Associated Press Market Editor
Chicago.—(AP)—Recoveries from downturns in grain values today paralleled rallies of Wall Street securities. Some purchasing of wheat futures was based on the fact that grain prices had declined for five successive days.

WHEAT GAINS AFTER FALLING FOR FIVE DAYS

Reports of increased pressure to sell Canadian wheat at Liverpool were accompanied by word that Russian wheat export quotations had been further reduced 3 cents a bushel. Speculative purchasing as well as millers' buying at Liverpool was described as almost nil. Wheat also reflected weakness shown by the corn market.

End of the month liquidating sales of September corn led to an early break of almost 2 cents a bushel for the delivery. Receipts of corn here were heavy, 167 cars against 55 a week ago and 58 on the corresponding day last year. Bookings of corn to arrive were also liberal, and primary receipts totaled 524,000 bushels, compared with 467,000 at this time last year. Oats followed corn.

Provisions advanced on account of the unusual number of light weight hogs reaching terminal markets. All deliveries of corn sold at a new low for the season today, and although there was buying of December credited to a leading professional trader it was hard to maintain the country corn sold more than 250,000 bu. of corn to arrive here, including 20,000 bu. of new crop grain. Weather over the belt was generally favorable for field work, and a little husking was reported in some sections.

BONDS ARE STEADY WITH LESS ACTIVITY

German, French and Norwegian Issues Are Stronger, Make Gains

New York.—(AP)—Although the bond market fluctuated irregularly today steadiness and even strength appeared in spots. Trading was much less active than yesterday. Notable strength developed in German 5 1/2s and 7s, French 7s and 7 1/2s and Norwegian 6s of 1944. The recovery in the Franco German issues may have reflected in part the visit of Premier Laval to Berlin. Some important financiers regard the rapprochement of the two countries as one favorable factor for world recovery.

Decline among domestic obligations were more numerous than the gains but many of them were narrow. United States government obligations were generally lower, however. The new treasury 3s of 1951-55 continued active. Relatively few bonds lost one point or more. Canadian Pacific Debenture 4s, Nickel Plate 4 1/2s of 1970, Goodyear 8s, United States Rubber 6s and International Telephone Debenture 5s were among the losers. The last issue reflected heavy selling pressure.

However, moderate gains were scored by American Smelting 5s, Pacific Gas 5s, Chicago and Northwestern 4 1/2s, Delaware and Hudson 4s, St. Louis San Francisco 4 1/2s of 1978 and Atchafalpa General 4s. Sales of the Atchafalpa issue were heavy. An even larger number of bonds were steady.

A plan to solve the financial difficulties of Chicago has been presented to Governor Emmerson of Illinois. The plan provides for the issuance of $27,000,000 in bonds and the sale of $36,747,000 of tax anticipation warrants to banks.

HASS ELECTED NEW PRESIDENT OF GOLF CLUB

Kaukauna Organization Offers Inducements to New Members

Kaukauna—William Hass was elected president of the Kaukauna Golf club at the annual meeting in Elks hall Tuesday evening. Hass was chairman of the golf committee that staged the tournaments at the local course this year. Ed Hass was named vice president; Gordon Mulholland, treasurer; and Ed Kalupa, secretary. The board of directors is composed of the officers and H. Fassbender, H. Weitenbach, and Les Smith.

E. P. Rennie was the former president; H. Fassbender was vice president; H. McAndrews, secretary; and G. Mulholland, treasurer. The board of directors was composed of L. F. Nelson, H. Weitenbach, C. D. Towles, H. Fassbender, C. J. Hansen, P. A. Smith, and E. P. Rennie. The nominating committee included Henry Olm, Herbert Weckwerth, Carl Chopin, Ray McCarty, and Art Look. This committee was appointed by E. P. Rennie former president of the club.

Reports were submitted by the various committee heads, and officers reviewed the season's activities. Special inducements are being offered to new members. About 100 members are enrolled now, and the drive for new members will end soon.

Recent rains have added the greenskeeper, Martin Heindel, considerably and the course is in fine condition. Norbert Dietzler is manager of the course. A green for putting practice has been built near the tee on the first hole. There is water on the sixth hole from a spring. All of the water used to wet the greens is pumped directly from the river, and piped over the entire course.

MISS HELEN GUILFOYLE DIES TUESDAY NIGHT

Kaukauna—Miss Helen Mildred Guilfoyle, 27, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Guilfoyle, 604 Wisconsin ave., died at 7:15 Tuesday evening after an illness of five months. Miss Guilfoyle was an employee of the local branch of the Wisconsin Telephone Co., working in the commercial department since her graduation from high school in 1923. She was a graduate of Holy Cross parochial school and Kaukauna high school.

Survivors are her parents, one brother, Joseph of Appleton; and one sister, Mrs. Urban Remmel of Wrightstown.

Funeral services will be held at Holy Cross Catholic church at 9 o'clock Friday morning. Rev. P. L. Lochman will be in charge of the services. Interment will be in Holy cemetery.

CONDUCT VOLLEYBALL PRACTICE AT SCHOOL

Kaukauna—Another of a series of volleyball practices was held in the Outagamie Rural Normal school gym Tuesday evening. The squad is practicing in preparation for entrance of a team in the Fox River Valley Volleyball league. Several new players have reported at the practices and new players are invited to participate.

HOLD FIRE PRACTICE AT PAROCHIAL SCHOOL

Kaukauna—Students of Holy Cross school held their first practice fire drill at 11 o'clock Tuesday morning. A practice drill is held about once a month to acquaint the pupils with the methods of leaving the school rooms without unnecessary confusion.

USE BROKEN CONCRETE ON RETAINING WALL

Kaukauna—All the broken concrete being removed from the intersection of Highways 55 and 41 and County Trunk J, which is being widened, will be used to extend the retaining wall along the banks of the Fox river in Tourist park. Ground also will be filled in between the wall and the bank to prevent the trees along the river from falling. The water has washed away most of the ground, leaving the roots of the trees exposed. The retaining wall will prevent erosion. Workmen of the north road district are constructing the wall.

PERFECT THRIFT DAY RECORDED AT SCHOOL

Kaukauna—Another 100 per cent thrift day was recorded at the high school Tuesday morning when every student banked for a total of $68.64. Freshmen won the thrift banner for the week, each student depositing an average of 23 cents, amounting to $25.04 for 114 pupils. Sophomores were second with $15.93 or 16.77 cents per student. Juniors banked $15.32, while the seniors banked $12.35.

NORMAL SCHOOL BUYS NEW CLOTHES LOCKERS

Kaukauna—Fifteen new clothes lockers have been purchased for students at the Outagamie Rural Normal school and are being installed by the school janitor. With the increase in enrollment at the school this season the need for additional lockers became apparent and fifteen new ones were bought. All are built of metal and are about five feet high.

KAUKAUNA PIGEON CLUB MEETS THIS EVENING

Kaukauna—Kaukauna Pigeon club members will meet Wednesday evening at the home of Ervin Haessly. The season's activities will be reviewed and reports submitted. The silver trophy for the record average speed for the fall races will be awarded to F. Reuter. Reuter flew pigeons with the club for the first time this year and won two firsts and two second places in the fall races with his birds to win the average speed record.

HIGH SCHOOL ELEVEN MEETS SHAWANO NEXT

Kaukauna—Officials for the football game between Kaukauna and Shawano high schools have been announced. Christoph and Darling will be on the officiating staff. Fifty student tickets for the game Saturday have been received by Principal Olin G. Dryer. A large number of Kaukauna fans are expected to make the trip.

EXAMINER TO HEAR TESTIMONY IN 13 WORKMEN'S CASES

Two-day Calendar Is to Be Conducted at City Hall Next Week

Thirteen cases are listed for hearing at a two-day session to be conducted at the city hall here on Tuesday and Wednesday, Oct. 6 and 7, by an examiner for the Wisconsin Industrial commission. All of the cases arise under the Workmen's Compensation act. The examiner also will hold informal conferences with employers and employees on matters arising under the act. Following is a schedule of cases: Tuesday, 9 o'clock, Martin Kramarczyk versus Gilbert Paper company; 9:30 Marvin O. Paulsen, versus Joseph Kahn; 10 o'clock, Herman Krause versus Hatten Lumber company; 11 o'clock, Michael Schmid versus Riverview Country club; 1:30 William Tennesen versus Farm Equipment company; 2 o'clock, John Becker versus Northern Transportation company; 2:30, Herman Born versus George Millard.

Wednesday, 9 o'clock, William Brandt versus Stebben Engineering and Manufacturing company; Consolidated Water Power company, and Interlake Pulp and Paper company; 10:30, Anton Derus, deceased, versus Chicago and Northwestern railroad; 11:30, George Gottschalk versus Bowman Dairy company; 1:30, Elmer Ulrich versus Calumet Packing company; 2 o'clock, John McCann versus Riverside Paper corporation; 2:30, Lucas Tremel versus Michael Kohl.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS NOT LIABLE FOR ACCIDENTS

Madison—(P)—A school district cannot purchase public liability insurance for the transportation of pupils. Assistant Attorney General Mortimer Levitan ruled Tuesday in an opinion to District Attorney Edmund Drager of Vilas co. "The transportation of pupils is a governmental function," the opinion said, "and therefore the school district would not be liable for accidents occurring in such transportation."

In another opinion by J. E. Meserschmidt, Dr. C. A. Harper, state health officer, was told that master plumbers and journeymen plumbers, under the terms of a new law, must have licenses to perform services in any city or village having both a system of waterworks and sewage or in any metropolitan sewerage district.

GOOD. they've got to be good!

Each brings out the best in the other!

The Dodge Sisters are a perfect team—each brings out the best in the other.

The exclusive Chesterfield Cross-Blend is like that. It does much more than merely mix together a few tobaccos, as in ordinary blending. It actually unites the best qualities of one type of tobacco with the best qualities of other types.

Each brings out the best in the other—creating extra mildness, natural sweetness, and far better taste.

Chesterfield holds everlastingly to higher standards—

BETTER TOBACCOS, the mildest and ripest Turkish and Domestic tobaccos that can be bought.

BETTER PAPER, pure, odorless, tasteless—the finest made.

BETTER MANUFACTURE, safeguarded throughout by laboratory supervision of every material, every step.

Nobody smokes a better cigarette than Chesterfield. And nobody ever will.

The Dodge Sisters—internationally famous Vaudiville Team
